Asks Congress
To Keep Mail
Planes Away From Bermuda

Senator Clark Accuses Britain of 'Rifling' Letters

GLASS RAPS ACT

Virginian Says Neutrality Law Encourages Hitler 'Threat'

Washington—(AP)—Senator Clark (D-Mo.) urged congress today to write into the neutrality acts a provision outlawing any except forced landings of American airmail planes at Bermuda.

Asserting British action in "rifling" American mails at Bermuda had caused a great deal of international friction, Clark offered a bill in the senate to alter the section which specifically excluded Bermuda mail planes from restrictions of the neutrality law.

His amendment was referred to the foreign relations committee.

On a related aspect of foreign affairs Senator Glass (D-Va.) said that the neutrality law "has been encouraging Hitler to make the threat" that Germany has the right to attack American vessels which pass through British contraband control stations.

"I think we ought to operate under international law instead of the neutrality act," Glass said.

Labor Act Meeting

Other developments at the capitol:

The house committee investigating the labor board was summoned for a closed session at which members were expected to discuss the advisability of immediately recommending amendments to the Wagner labor law. One proposal under careful consideration would eliminate the present three-man board and substitute a new organization.

Secretary Wallace told the house agriculture committee that his "income certificate" system of processing taxes offered the best method for aiding farmers to "withstand the stresses of the present war."

The house was reminded of the possibility that it might have to elect the next president if no candidate received a majority of the electoral vote. Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) raised the question as the house adopted a senate-approved resolution to create a joint committee to arrange for the presidential inauguration.

Would Face Problem

In the event of the election being thrown into the house, he said, that body would face difficulties, arising from limited time to act, as a result of the so-called "lame duck" amendment to the constitution which fixed the inauguration date as Jan. 20, less than three weeks after the new congress convenes.

Seek More Funds

Quiet efforts by the navy department to restore part of the $111-699,000 slashes from its budget by the house appropriations committee appeared today to have netted only polite rebuffs from congressional leaders.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, discussed the reductions yesterday with Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) and two other members of the house naval committee.

Stark emphasized that the $966-772,878 outlay recommended by the appropriations committee would be insufficient to finance the navy for the year starting July 1, but he apparently got little out of the conference beyond a promise of help to restore some of the 224 airplanes eliminated.

Representatives Darden (D-Va.) and Maas (R-Minn.) agreed, the latter said, to seek restoration of possibly the 111 planes which will be assigned to the aircraft carrier Hornet, now under construction. It was explained that planes must be available and their pilots trained.

Former Convict Sent To Prison After He Stabs U. W. Student

Madison—(AP)—Simon Sladky, 31, a former convict who attacked and wounded a University of Wisconsin student with an ice pick last night, was sentenced in superior court today to a term of one to three years in Waupun prison.

Ronald Drescher, Pewaukee, university freshman, was discharged from the student infirmary after receiving treatment for an abdominal cut. The injury was not considered serious.

Sladky was charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm.

Drescher and Carl Schmidt, also of Pewaukee, were entering their rooming house on N. Mills street when they saw a man loitering on the rear porch of a rooming house for girls. They seized him and Drescher was stabbed while Schmidt went to summon officers.

Finding the pair struggling when he returned, Schmidt helped subdue and detain Sladky until police arrived.

Sladky's police record showed he was sentenced at Milwaukee in 1924 to serve a year at Green Bay reformatory for burglary, and in 1925 was sentenced to from one to 22 years in Waupun prison on burglary charges. He served 10 years of the state prison term.

POPE, MUSSOLINI AID SWEETHEARTS

Given a furlough by Benito Mussolini and a special Lenten dispensation to marry by Pope Pius XII, Captain Francesco Rizzo, of the Italian navy, now plans to marry Miss Nora Edna Maiolo, 20, in Mishawaka, Ind., February 24. The couple met in 1938 aboard the liner Rex en route to Europe, and continued their friendship by mail.

New Premier Is Named at Sofia

Relations With Moscow Reported Cause of Cabinet Resignation

Sofia—(AP)—The cabinet of Premier George Kiosseivanoff resigned today and King Boris immediately called Prof. Bogdan Philoff, minister of education, to form a new Bulgarian government.

Kiosseivanoff, a close friend of the king, had reorganized his cabinet for the eighth time in less than four years only last Oct. 23, retaining the double role of premier and foreign minister.

Kiosseivanoff's resignation was caused by his bitter fight with Ivan Bogoroff, minister of agriculture, reportedly over relations with Soviet Russia.

Bogoroff, a popular member of the Kiosseivanoff government, was said to favor further tightening of relations with Moscow.

The two men were known to have quarreled also over domestic policy with Bogoroff demanding a return to democratic parliamentary rule which Kiosseivanoff opposed.

Philoff, also a close friend of King Boris, is a professor of archeology and president of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences.

Political circles expected Kios-seivanoff's foreign ministry portfolio to go to Ivan Popoff, Bulgarian minister to Yugoslavia.

This was interpreted as meaning that the king desires further to intensify Bulgaria's close relations with Belgrade.

Holds Jury Trial Is Necessary to Enjoin Public Bingo Games

Madison—(AP)—Attorney Max Raskin, Milwaukee, contended today in briefs filed with the supreme court that a jury trial was necessary before the playing of bingo in a public hall could be enjoined.

Raskin's brief was in support of his application for rehearing of the court's recent decision which upheld a circuit court order restrain-ing Edward and Marie Zrimsek from renting their Bahr Frei hall in Milwaukee for bingo games.

The supreme court held that bingo was a gambling game and could be outlawed under the public nuisance statute.

Raskin argued that if bingo was construed as a violation of the statute against gambling a defendant was entitled to trial by jury and that this right is denied the Zrimseks in circuit court.

He contended that after a jury had determined certain facts a court could issue an injunction, but said that "a court cannot in the first instance determine whether a criminal statute has been violated."

Three Slayers Facing Electrocution Tonight

Ossining, N. Y.—(AP)—A woman's words of courage came today to Bertha Thunstead, 29, one of three men scheduled to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing tonight. He was paid a farewell visit by Miss Etta Guzman of New York City, who has visited him 40 times since he entered the death-house nine months ago.

Thunstead was convicted of the holdup murder of Patrolman Humbert Moruzzi in a Manhattan night club on April 12, 1939. Scheduled to die with him for the same crime is John Kulka, 24.

The third man facing execution is Franklin W. Jenner, who bludgeoned a Pompey, N. Y., woman to death in the course of a burglary.

Aboard U. S. S. Lang—President Roosevelt declined today to deny, in response to a question, a possibility that he might contact French, British and Italian authorities during a trip on the cruiser Tuscaloosa.

Although he was advised that reporters were expecting the idea of a sea consultation with belligerents would bring a presidential denial or "kick in the pants," the president asserted he did not think he would comment.

Mr. Roosevelt remarked cryptically at a press conference that it might be fair to assume his trip would, as so often happens, combine business with a vacation.

This was not amplified, nor did the president say whether the business would be more than routine consideration of mail.

Aboard Roosevelt Train. Enroute to Pensacola, Fla.—(AP)—President Roosevelt swung into the deep south today, heading for a seagoing vacation on a navy cruiser whose sailing orders were as secret as if she were on a war mission.

The president's immediate destination was Pensacola, Fla., where the cruiser Tuscaloosa stood by to pipe him on board and nose out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Reporters accompanying the president hoped to get at least a hint of the cruise plans at a press conference during the day. Mr. Roosevelt agreed to see them before leaving the special train on which he left Washington yesterday.

The only well-established facts about the voyage were that it would last about ten days and that Mr.
Roosevelt wanted to get in some fishing.

As far as official announcements were concerned, it was just another of the president's annual southern fishing trips.

But never before has such secrecy been thrown around one of Mr.
Roosevelt's journeys. That fact gave rise to conjectures whether fishing was a primary objective of the trip, particularly since there have been some navy training and landing exercises in the Caribbean.

One reason advanced for the secrecy was that it was desired to mask presidential movements in waters where Mr. Roosevelt reported the sighting of foreign submarines last fall.

While the cruise was intended to give the president a measure of isolation, the navy's radio system was ready to keep him apprised of any important developments at home or abroad. White House officials added that the vacation could be ended at any time, if need be.

Believe 10 Felons Received Outside Help in Attempt to Escape Pennsylvania Prison

Philadelphia—(AP)—Authorities worked on the theory today that 10 long term convicts were aided by outsiders in their abortive plot to tunnel to freedom under the grim walls of Eastern State penitentiary.

With nine of the conspirators lodged in solitary and the rest of the ancient prison's population abnormally quiet, investigators sought to find out how the convicts obtained implements to dig two tunnels that prison officials said would have furnished 200 inmates with a means of escaping.

The wholesale break scheme came to light dramatically yesterday when city detectives rushed to the prison with machine guns and sawed-off shotguns. They were summoned soon after an alleged ringleader of the plot hanged himself in a cell and reports circulated that more trouble was brewing.

So carefully had the convicts tunneled and concealed their operations over three months that penitentiary officials concluded they must have taken precautions to assure themselves supplies to facilitate their bid for freedom once they holed through.

Detective Captain George Richardson, who disclosed two men with police records found loitering outside the prison were being questioned, said he was convinced the plot had "plenty of help from the outside."

Two facts astonished investigators. First, the variety and ingenious contrivance of tools found in the tunnels. Second, the detail of construction—each foot of the tunnels was shored with timbers in a manner suggestive of "bootleg" coal shafts dotting Pennsylvania's anthracite region.

Charges 'Film Industry' Has Secret Report

Dies Hears Producers Have Copies of Confidential Document

SEEKS FULL PROBE

Wants Committee to 'Go To West Coast and Expose Hollywood'

Washington—(AP)—Chairman Dies
(D-Texas) of the house committee investigating un-Americanism declared today he was looking into a report that "the Hollywood film industry" had obtained mysteriously a confidential committee report on "subversive activities" in the movie colony.

The chairman, just returned to the capital after a two months illness in Texas, said the report was made to the committee by one of its investigators last year and was submitted privately to each of the committee's members. He said he knew of no other copies.

"I'm not prepared fully to say it is there," Dies told newsmen,
"but I understand the producers have copies of it and have mimeographed it and even know who the witnesses are going to be."

The report laid the groundwork for a committee investigation on the Pacific coast which Dies said he hoped would be started soon with "no pussyfooting, no backtracking, no crawling."

Wants Early Hearings

"I can't speak for the committee,"
Dies said. "It has been charged that I have been speaking for the committee. But the bill of rights doesn't prohibit me from saying that I will recommend to the committee that we go to the west coast and expose Hollywood thoroughly, investigate consumer organizations further and investigate communists in government."

He asserted his first recommendation would be that hearings be started within 30 days so that most of the committee's work could be cleared up before this year's presidential nominating conventions.

"I will recommend that when the campaign gets under way," he said,
"that there will be no public hearings."

"It would be difficult to keep that from being the charge that we are trying to influence the presidential election, whether there was any truth to it or not."

In 1938, the committee was criticized for investigations bearing on political campaigns. Frank Murphy, present supreme court justice, was defeated for governor of Michigan after testimony adverse to him before the committee.

Dies said that among other things, he wished to "expose" British and French lecturers offering their services free to American lecture bureaus so as "to obtain a medium of propaganda."

36 Known Dead as Result of Storm

Scores Reported Injured;
Drifts Piled High
Throughout East

New York—(AP)—Lashing gales at sea brought a new menace to life and property today in the wake of winter's heaviest snowstorm which left 36 known dead, scores injured, and drifts piled high throughout the east.

The weather bureau in Washington, D. C., sent out a bulletin warning that a storm of "great intensity" attended by gales over a wide area" was raging in a focus about 150 miles east of Nantucket, Mass.

Hears overtaxed by shoveling snow or battling through snowdrifts accounted for a majority of the storm fatalities, with hard-hat Pennsylvania registering 8 deaths, update New York 6, New Jersey 3,
New York City 6, Maryland 3, and
New England 3.

In metropolitan New York, an official fall of eight inches was recorded. Pittsburgh had 13 inches.

Although the major force of the storm, which came as a valentine day's "gift" from the south, has blown itself out to sea, high winds still harassed shipping in inland coastal waters.

VALENTINE WOE

A romantic interlude for most folks, St. Valentine's day brought trouble for the third time to Mrs.
Louise Wiebrecht (above) of Chicago. She became known as the "blonde alibi" when she supplied the story which freed "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn after the "Moran massacre" in 1923. In 1936, shortly after the midnight of St. Valentine's day, McGurn, then her husband, was assassinated. In 1940, she appeared in felony court on a disorderly conduct charge.

Green Bay Chapter in Formal Demand on Secretary of State

Madison—(AP)—The Green Bay chapter of the Disabled American Veterans made formal demand today upon Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman for release of $4,000 of the $50,000 appropriated by the 1939 legislature to help finance the national D.A.V. convention at Green Bay this year.

Zimmerman withheld action pending an anticipated request from the Wisconsin department of the American Legion for part of the $50,000 the legislature set aside to help Milwaukee obtain the national legion convention next year.

The secretary of state said he was informed Fred Evans, Madison, would file a legion claim for $27-500 within a few days.

"When this request is received I will ask the attorney general for an opinion as to whether these appropriations were constitutional," Zimmerman said. "If the opinion is favorable, I will issue warrants for release of the funds."

State Treasurer John Smith previously announced he would not sign checks for any part of the appropriations unless instructed to do so by court order.

Legality of the allotments was challenged by William T. Evjue, Madison editor.

Attorney General John E. Martin was expected to follow a previous ruling that the appropriations were constitutional, but if Smith declines to issue the checks the veterans organizations will have to start suit to collect.

French Report Two Nazi Raids Halted
During Snowstorm

Paris—(AP)—French machine gunners halted two German raids during a snowstorm on the western front. French military sources reported today.

The Germans first tried to take a French outpost in a woods east of the Saar river, these sources said, but withdrew at the first burst of bullets from the defenders.

Another patrol in the same sector, described as evidently seeking prisoners, skirmished with French advance guards. When the fire died down, the French said they found several German dead in no man's land.

(The German communiqué today said, "as a result of patrol activity south of Saarbrücken, numerous prisoners were taken.")

The French reported one German Heinkel plane was shot down over the front.

This morning's French communiqué reported "local activity of contact units east of the Saar river at nightfall yesterday."

Bodies of Four are Taken From Lake Erie

Sandusky, Ohio—(AP)—The bodies of two trapped children, who drowned with their parents when an automobile plunged through treacherous Lake Erie ice into 30 feet of water, were recovered from the car today.

Several hours after the tragedy late yesterday, the bodies of Dr.
George J. Edam, 33, Put-in-Bay physician, and his wife, Mrs. Loretta Edam, 29, were found.

The children, Barbara Edam, 2, and George Edam, Jr., 3, were pulled from the car after about 50 rescuers stood on planks and used grappling hooks to pull the vehicle near shore.

Special Lookouts are Watching for Bombs

London—(AP)—Special lookouts for Irish Republican army bombs were posted in London railroad stations and post offices today as the result of time-bombings in Birmingham last night.

Two bombs exploded in Birmingham, three others were discovered, and police there informed Scotland yard that they had discovered plans for bombings in London.

Finns Call More Men to Colors as

Foreign Observers Think Japs Unable to Continue Making Advances in China

Shanghai—(AP)—Foreign military sources said today they saw unmistakable signs that Japan had reached the limit of her ability to win and hold Chinese territory.

In their view, the Japanese "have stopped winning the war without achieving their objectives" and now are incapable of striking an effective blow to China's resistance.

The invaders' men and materials are beginning to wear out, they said, and their strength is so scattered over thousands of miles of China that their punch has lost its snap.

These statements were made in comment on the Japanese proclamation yesterday urging Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to surrender.

These foreign sources regarded it as a significant admission that Japan already has made her maximum military effort.

Can't "Crush" Chiang

The part of the proclamation declaring that Japan will not extend her operations further "but will await your offensive," they interpreted also as a confession that the invaders were unable to carry out their oft-repeated vow "to crush Chiang even if we have to pursue him to Tibet."

Through the proclamation and Japanese Premier Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai's statements to the diet, it appeared to foreign observers that the Japanese would be more willing to deal with Chiang if a face-saving formula could be found.

One expert, who has followed the fighting since the first shots in July, 1937, declared that "from a strictly military point of view the Japanese have almost shot their bolt and have stopped winning the war."

The Chinese have not started to win but, in his opinion, their chances of ultimate victory are improving. If Chinese morale stays up and China's resistance continues, he said, there are growing signs that the Japanese will find they have "tackled a task too immense for their human and economic resources."

last year, and especially of the last

Three More Counts Against Hess are Ordered Dropped

Four of Original Ten Remain Against Forest County Ex-Supervisor

Crandon—(AP)—Three more counts against Albert J. Hess were dismissed today, leaving only four of the original ten which charged him with embezzlement and malfeasance in connection with sale of tax delinquent county lands to the federal government.

Circuit Judge George Leicht of Wausau, who is presiding over Hess' trial, disposed of the three counts.
Three other counts which charged the former Forest county supervisor with being an accessory before the fact of embezzlement were dismissed late yesterday at request of the state, which rested its case.

Leo Samz, former county clerk was the first witness called today by the defense.

Hess and Lester Carter, former Forest county treasurer, originally had been charged with making a profit through the sale of the tax delinquent lands to the federal government. Carter was acquitted but the case against Hess, once dropped, subsequently was reinstated.

Hess Contention

Hess' attorney, O. J. Omelia of Rhinelander, has contended the county was entitled to only 70 percent of the money paid by the government and the defendant's wife, Mrs. Dora Hess, was entitled to the balance because the county had accepted her bid of $15,000 for the county land.

Carter, in testimony yesterday, answered in the negative when asked whether Hess paid him any money before government checks in payment for the lands reached his hands.

Other witnesses included District Attorney Francis W. Horne, who said he endorsed government checks to the Forest county land committee, of which he was a member, for the purchase of lands by the government; and Joseph Kellier, Wisconsin deputy of taxation accounts, who said he made an audit which included the land deal.

Report Nazis Project
Image of Virgin Mary

Paris—(AP)—Press accounts from the front sector occupied by the British today reported that Tommies manning an outpost during the night suddenly saw an image of the Virgin Mary appear in the clouds with her arms outstretched in entreaty.

The commander sent out a patrol which returned with the information that the Germans were projecting the image from a machine on the ground.

Blizzard Hampers
Posse in Hunt for Suspect in Slaying

Snow Hill, Md.—(AP)—A posse hunting a Negro suspect in the slaying of an eastern shore farmer and the wounding of his wife was halted by a blizzard today, but Worcester county authorities announced they had found a shotgun and bullet, believed used in the shooting.

The weapons were found under the flooring at the home of the fugitive, sought in the swamps south of here for the last three days.

Four other Negroes—two men and two women—were held at the Harris county jail at Bel Air, for investigation in the shotgun slaying of Harvey W. Pritchard, 81, and the wounding of his wife, Annie, at their home in Stockton Sunday night.

The women were taken to the jail yesterday after their rescue by state troopers the night before from a mob at Stockton. The mob, offi-

Republicans May Meet Secretly on Convention Date

Philadelphia and Chicago Have Best Chances of Getting Conclave

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Feb. 15.—State leaders gathered here today for the first time since the party's last national convention, to discuss the possibility of a secret meeting to select a date for the 1940 convention.

Officially, the party is not to meet until the 1940 convention, but the possibility of a secret meeting to select a date for the 1940 convention is being discussed.

The Democrats have picked Chicago but have not yet decided on a date for the convention. The Republicans are also considering Chicago as a possible site.

Philadelphia and Chicago are the two cities with the best chances of getting the convention. The party leaders are currently in Washington, D.C., to discuss the possibility of a secret meeting to select a date for the 1940 convention.

Added Witnesses Are Summoned in Trial for Murder

'Supermentality' Accused Of Slaying 'Best Friend' in Illinois

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The state summoned additional witnesses today in an effort to convict Carl H. Erickson, the 25-year-old "supermentality" accused of murdering his best friend.

Erickson, described as the most intelligent murder defendant ever examined at the city's behavior clinic, sat unmoved yesterday while Prosecutor Julius Sherwin outlined the state's case.

Nor did he display any emotion when Mrs. Herbert Wolff, widow of the slain man, tearfully testified concerning the close friendship that had existed between the two men.

Sherwin told the jury of nine women and three men that the defendant planned "the perfect crime" when he shot and killed Wolff last Sept. 28 as he slept in a garage where he was employed.

The prosecutor asserted Erickson went to bed with a roommate the night of the slaying, climbed out when the latter was asleep, went to the garage, returned to his room, fled away the rifling on the weapon and crawled back without awakening his companion.

Sherwin said Erickson confessed he killed Wolff because the latter "slept my job." He was seized after a woman informer gained his confidence and reported to police that he had boasted the crime would never be solved.

Erickson testified yesterday in the jury's absence that the purported confession was obtained by three degree methods, that the police "jabbed him in a nerve center under the shoulder and also in the solar plexus," and threatened me with a pistol. Police witnesses denied the charge.

Mrs. Wolff, 20, testified she and her husband were without funds at the time of their marriage and at the invitation of Erickson moved into his apartment. They left after a quarrel several months later, she said.

Mrs. Wolff said Erickson borrowed $100 from her after the slaying. Asked if Erickson ever referred to the slaying, Mrs. Wolff replied: "Yes. He said he'd like to get hold of the man who did it."

Police Sergeant Robert E. Ryan, of the Chicago Avenue station said Erickson came in more than a dozen times for several weeks after the crime, inquire as to the progress of the investigation.

Friends of Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) were talking of running him for the Democratic vice presidential nomination if the top place goes to an easterner or a southerner.

Gillette said that if an eastern or southern man should be nominated for president, "then political strategy would make it advisable to have a vice presidential candidate from the Midwest."

While saying he was not a candidate, he indicated he would accept the nomination.

Women of Europe Become Big Cogs in War Machines

By the Associated Press
Women literally are wearing the pants in many European families by doing everything from motorcycle riding to flying bombing planes—and dying in battle.

Since the war started they have knitted to the tune of bursting bombs, fought in the front lines, scrubbed floors, worked in munitions plants and performed a thousand dreary but necessary tasks.

Their rewards have varied from grim war front burials to the $2,000 a year paid some superintendents in Great Britain's auxiliary fighting services.

Among European belligerents Britain and Finland are making the maximum use of their feminine reserves.

Approximately 75,000 women enlisted in Finland's Lotta Svard, an auxiliary organization, when Soviet Russia invaded the little country. Since then a number have been killed and decorated posthumously.

All Kinds Of Work
Wearing trim gray uniforms, they work close to the front lines cooking, laundering, operating canteens and doing clerical work.

The Lotta Svard has taken over all types of civil work behind the lines and mans air raid observation posts. Whenever the members have a spare moment they spend it knitting.

An Associated Press correspondent told of seeing a dozen Finnish women knitting in an air raid shelter while the earth shook with the repercussions of Russian bombs.

Each member of the Lotta Svard receives a small allowance from the government.

Britain's womanhood has engaged in thousands of war tasks. More than 1,100 are enlisted in the Women's Royal Naval Service (Wrens) for dispatch riding and clerical work.

More than 3,300 women are employed in the Royal Air Force auxiliary unit, working at everything from cooking to ferrying planes from factories to flying fields. They have their own separate barracks.

Wide Range Of Pay
Tens of thousands of women are employed in other auxiliary services. Their tasks range from potato peeling to executive work.

Hundreds of thousands of English women not in uniform do part time work such as typing and operating switchboards.

Pay varies from 20 cents a day and a billet to $2,000 a year for superintendents.

The war has made little difference in Russia. The Soviet regime has made it a practice to train women for all work open to men. Many are in the fighting services and the Finns have reported finding bodies of several Russian women in the wreckage of Soviet bombers.

The French have not made any attempt to form an auxiliary fighting service but many women have entered men's fields to fill gaps caused by the war.

The labor ministry estimates that 400,000 French women will be absorbed into industry eventually.

In Germany, where the Nazis have held a woman's place in the home, there are no auxiliary services although women have taken over certain types of work to make up for labor shortages.

Threatens to Leave Democratic Conclave If F.D.R. Is Named
Washington.—(AP)—Senator Smith (D-S.C.) declared today that if the Democrats renominated President Roosevelt, "I'll walk out of the convention and stay out."

The 75-year-old dean of the senate, whose renomination in 1938 was opposed by the president, told reporters that a third term nomination "would be violative of the security of our government, regardless of who the nominee was."

Smith walked out of the 1938 convention at Philadelphia when a Negro minister offered a prayer.

Released on Wednesday, he disappeared on Friday of the same week and was sought as a violator. Because sentence already has been made, the stay will be vacated and Pahlke will have to serve the term, Sullivan stated.

Britain Reports 4 German U-Boats Sunk Within Week

Cruiser Exeter, Victor Over Graf Spee, Welcomed Home

Plymouth, England.—(AP)—The cruiser Exeter, one of three which defeated the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee in the battle of Montevideo, came home to this historic port today to be greeted by a cheering crowd headed by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty.

The battle-scarred Exeter, which had been repaired at Port Stanley, Falkland islands, for the long voyage home, saluted Churchill as a tug led the way to port shortly after 10 o'clock a. m.

It was a happy homecoming for members of the crew, called back to duty last August only three days after their first leave in England had begun following a duty tour of nearly three years.

The 32,000-ton battle cruiser Repulse returned to Plymouth yesterday for refitting, it was disclosed.

London.—(AP)—Welcoming home victors in one great sea battle, Britain today counted four more German submarines as victims of the last six days of warfare and turned attention toward speeding volunteers on their way to Finland.

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill voiced the nation's welcome to the cruiser Exeter which steamed into Plymouth scared by her victorious fight with the German battleship Admiral Graf Spee off Montevideo Dec. 13.

The Exeter's crew was congratulated especially for fighting a battle in "the old style instead of the long and intricate struggle with mines and U-boats."

An admiralty statement said two more German submarines had been sunk, making four in six days and an unofficial total near 50 for the war.

Will Offer Convoys
Authoritative sources reported the British were prepared to offer convoy protection to all neutral shipping, whether passing through contraband control points or not, because of German insistence yesterday that submarines had the right to sink any ship bound for the control points.

German spokesmen asserted today, however, that American apprehension aroused by the statement was ill-founded and that Germany was speaking only theoretically.

Other authoritative quarters said the government was considering speed machinery to expedite mass permits for British volunteers to Finland, without putting any age limit on those who may volunteer.

Of the new submarines, the British claimed vengeance within a half hour against an undersea raider which torpedoed the 12,306-ton freighter Sultan Star, bound for England with 6,000 tons of frozen Argentine beef.

18 Are Missing
The other was sent down in the North sea where two other large British merchant ships, the 10,191-ton Gretafield and the 8,501-ton British Triumph, both tankers, were sunk recently.

Five of the British Triumph's crew were missing. The first capsized and sank after an explosion in the North sea and the other went down in flames off the northern coast of Scotland.

One German merchantman and two neutrals apparently also were new victims of war at sea.

A French communiqué reported yesterday that a German cargo boat had been captured and taken into a French port. No other details were disclosed.

Mussolini's Concern Over Allied Troops in the Near East Is Understandable

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
New York.—(AP)—Signor Mussolini's concern as to the precise purpose of the great concentration of Anglo-French troops in the near east is understandable in view of his Mediterranean interests and his ambitious new drive for politico-economic leadership in the Balkans.

Until now Herr Hitler's preserve. What with both Germany and Russia huffing and puffing and threatening to blow down his attractive but still uncompleted Balkan house, he naturally will be wary until he determines the intention of the fresh arrivals, who also fancy this as a building site.

Actually, while the Allies are quite as doubtful of it due as he is of them, there are no circumstances at present which warrant a serious clash between them. The position may be described as one of armed toleration on both sides, with a tendency toward at least partial cooperation.

Goos Back to 1915
Italy's distrust of France and England was born out of the London treaty of 1915 which brought the Italians into the World war. Rome claims that promises then made weren't carried out. The militant tones of Mussolini's comparatively recent demands on France for territorial adjustments, and on Britain for a greater degree of control in the Mediterranean, are still pressing on the world's ear-drums.

It probably is true that the Allies intend to keep a not unfriendly but alert eye on Mussolini, just in case he should get rambunctious. However, that would appear to be a secondary consideration.

The Anglo-French near-eastern preparations are at this juncture primarily defensive—though also potentially offensive—against Germany and Russia. The Allies are bent on protecting the Suez canal, the strategically important Dardanelles which form the gateway to the Black sea, and the rich oil fields of Iran and Iraq. They also are prepared to make good their promise to defend Rumania and Greece against aggression and support their alliance with Turkey.

Thus far Mussolini and the Allies have worked along side by side without apparent friction in their efforts to wrest from Hitler the Balkan trade upon which he has depended so much, especially to provide him with vital supplies. This seemingly amicable rivalry has persisted despite the fact that economic control of the Balkans also means political power.

England, Italy Aligned
Within the last few days both England and Italy have made trade agreements with Turkey, thus aligning themselves in the Turkish economic set-up. From London comes word that England is buying airplanes from a great power other than the United States, and that could only be Italy. Britain also has been trying to increase her trade with Italy of late.

So the prospects of serious trouble between the Allies and Italy are not very strong at this writing. Mussolini's tie with Hitler hasn't been entirely broken, but the gold and more it dices show a tendency to play a lone hand so far as Germany is concerned, in working out his destiny.

Italian government circles insist that Italy is intent on keeping the war from spreading to southeastern Europe and the Mediterranean. With this in view Mussolini has been working day and night trying to weld the Balkans into a defensive peace group. There is no indication that he intends to desert his non-belligerency unless forced to.

However, Italian hostility to Bolshevism is solid. The Fascists say they never will permit a Russian army to pass through the Carpathians into the Balkan peninsula. Observers generally believe that and in the Udine region opposite Yugoslavia.

troops to prevent a German invasion of the Balkans. Italy now is busy picking up big stocks of guns, tanks, airplanes and other supplies to be able to hold her own. The present Italian force under arms is understood to be about 600,000, but this is being increased rapidly for spring events and it is said may total 1,500,000 by April.

Mussolini has a strong garrison of perhaps 80,000 men in Albania, from which access can be had to the rest of the Balkans. It is interesting to note that he also has been building fortifications at the Brenner pass, which is the gateway to Austria and Germany.

Attorney General Asked to Say if Board Broke Law

Action of Investigating Committee Puts Jackson In Difficult Spot

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Attorney General Robert H. Jackson has been put in a difficult spot by the action of the house committee investigating the labor board. He has been asked to say whether the members of the labor board have themselves violated federal statutes which call for fines and imprisonment of federal officials who endeavor to engage in lobbying for appropriations.

Unquestionably there have been violations before, just as there were during the prohibition era when bootlegging was common practice, but once cases were directed to the attention of the federal government, they found it difficult not to apply the law.

The stenographic record of the house labor committee shows that the members of the labor board admit they engaged in lobbying and that they urged their employees to line up sentiment in favor of appropriations by asking that communications be sent to members of congress.

Will there be any prosecutions? Will there be any removal of the present personnel of the board? It's an acid test of the impartiality of the department of justice and it means that, if this law violation is ignored, the Hatch act will become a dead letter also. For one deals with improper lobbying activity by government officials in the governmental personnel field, and the other with the activities of government officials in politics.

There can be no doubt that members of the labor board felt they were doing a good thing because they wanted the board's appropriations retained instead of cut. But congress, in the first instance, saw an evil in letting bureaus and boards build backfires against them to get public funds appropriated, and that was the original purpose of the statute.

Integrity of Laws

It is a question now, also, whether the integrity of federal statutes is going to be maintained. The members of the National Labor Relations board have been meticulous sticklers for the letter of the Wagner law, applying it in every single instance where, by the remotest stretch of the judicial imagination, a decision could be rendered against an employer. Constant intimacy was maintained, it now develops, between the board and the leaders of labor unions, even to the point of discussing cases before they were decided—a breach of judicial etiquette which has shocked official Washington.

But the shocking disclosures are so numerous that one committee member said the other day he was "shock-proof"—he never believed so many unwise and improper things could be done by a governmental board or commission entrusted with the power of a federal statute and operating in the name of the government of the United States.

The most brazen admission, however, has not been with reference to the clash on the anti-lobbying statute, but the revelation that members of the labor board engaged in a black-listing operation in which other governmental agencies connived. The fact that secret agreements were made between the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the labor board, and that purchasing agencies of the government regularly received from Chairman Madden of the labor board word concerning companies which had labor difficulties, is an amazing disclosure of how arbitrary governmental power can be used without the consent of congress.

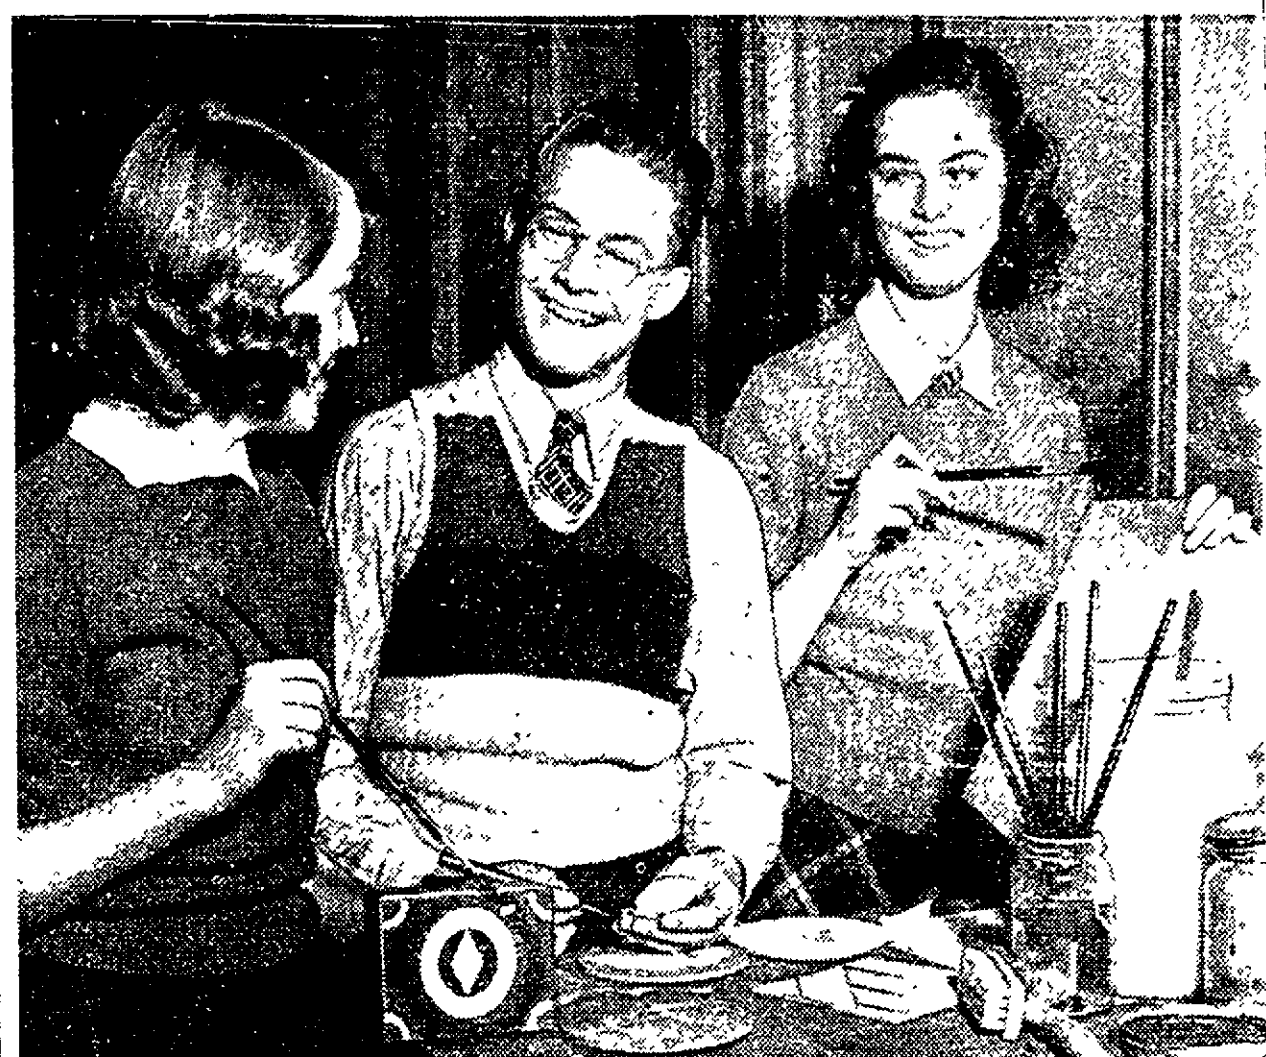

Even before labor board cases were decided, when they were merely in the accusation stage, the chairman of the labor board, J. Warren Madden, admitted on the stand that he sent word to other agencies so as to prevent them from getting government contracts or loans or other aid.

Indicted, Guilty

There can be little doubt that congress would sanction any withholding of federal loans from companies convicted of violating federal laws, but there can also be little doubt that congress would not want such punishment meted out to a company which had not yet had a decision rendered against it in the courts. In other words, the moment a man is indicted, he is guilty in the eyes of the labor board and not entitled to any consideration by federal agencies.

Congress, however, has said nothing at all about a labor board accusation being sufficient basis to withhold contracts or loans from

Appleton Streets How They Were Named

This is one of a number of brief articles telling how certain Appleton streets received their names. The Post-Crescent would appreciate information about streets not already run in this series. Letters may be addressed to the City Editor, Appleton Post-Crescent.

Sampson street—From E. North street to E. Winnebago street, 11 blocks east of N. Oneida street. Named for William Harkness Sampson, the first president of Lawrence Institute, now Lawrence college. He came to Appleton in 1848 and died in Tacoma, Wash., in 1902.

Seymour street—From E. Oneida street to S. Memorial drive, six blocks south of E. South River street. Named for Horatio Seymour, who was a large land owner in the Fox River valley and one of the prime movers in the Fox River Improvement company which constructed the original canal at Kaukauna. He was president of the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company. He was born in New York state in 1810, was governor of New York and was nominated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1868.

companies accused of Wagner law violations. But under Mr. Madden's interpretation of his duties—the law of "common sense" as he calls it—it is not necessary to ask congress at all. In Germany, Herr Hitler gave one general instruction to his judges when he abolished all German law precedents—judge only by "local sentiment." Hitler-made law has become the law of the land in Germany. Bureaucratic-made law has been revealed now in the United States to be the law under which many government agencies have been operating in utter disregard of the specific words of the statutes written by congress.

Lenten Thought For Today

Thursday, Feb. 15. Then they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees; and they camped there beside the water. Read Exodus 15:22-27.

Every journey has its camping places and the right management of life's brief halts is part of life's wisdom. There, at least, as Stevenson says, we can get our packs off our backs. No use to be always carrying fears and anxieties. Lay them down for a little at life's camping places.

Halting places are good to think back from, good places to plan tomorrow's journey. Best of all they are good places to rest. They give a sense of unhurried spaciousness to life. It is good to forget the clock and the calendar sometimes, to discover the blessed secret of not being driven even in a swift journey. So much of the true wealth of life is in its halting places. Though you must leave the springs and the palm trees in the morning, treasure for the time their beauty and their rest.

Prayer: Lord of our journeys, if our bivouacs be enforced, give us courage for the hour and faith for the future. If they be in some little region of peace and beauty, help us to rest with an untroubled spirit and laying aside our cares, so to be renewed in our spirits, that the next stages may not be too hard, and bring us nearer the land of our hopes. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Manawa Study Club Will Give Two Plays

Manawa—Presentation of two 1-act plays will be made by members of the Woman's Study club in the grade school auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. One is entitled "The Raveled Sleeve," a new play written by Helen Pitts Parker, and the second, "It's a Woman's Privilege."

Members of the former cast include: Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. A. C. Walch; Dr. Edith Glendon, her oldest daughter, Mrs. Harry Lindow; Tommy, her youngest daughter, Miss Dorothy Briggs; Rosemary, her second daughter, Mrs. Erwin Esche; Miss Higgins, her nurse, Mrs. Paul Fritz, and Anna, her maid, Miss Lulu Oestreich.

Characters in the second play are as follows: Mrs. Lewis, a busy club woman, Mrs. W. W. Sebald; Margie, her daughter, Miss Norene Allen; Mrs. Robson, her friend, Mrs. Paul Roman; Mrs. Lawton, the minister's wife, Mrs. R. C. Lindsay; Kate Hannish, a modern friend, Mrs. F. W. Weisbrod; cousin Mary, who has always slaved for her family, Mrs. John Seffern; Josephine, Mary's daughter, Miss Muriel Waid.

Kimberly Scouts Court of Honor Set for Tonight

Badges to be Awarded At Investiture at Clubhouse

Kimberly — Scoutmaster William Van Hout will be in charge of the investiture of new scouts and the awarding of tenderfoot badges at the court of honor at 7:30 Thursday evening at the clubhouse. The Rev. I. C. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will award the Eagle badge to Robert Lang. The Rev. Alfred Hietpas, assistant pastor of the Holy Name church, will award the first and second class scout badges, while Jess Wydevan will present the star awards.

The presentation of awards to the 1939 champion first aid team, will be given by Scout Commissioner Ed Bankert. Waldo Friedland, Menasha, chairman of the court of honor of the valley council, will be the principal speaker. He will talk on the value of scouting. Motion pictures will be shown by R. L. Swan, Appleton. W. H. Webb, chairman of the scout committee, will give the address of welcome and introduce the speakers.

Forming Catholic Troop

A Catholic Boy Scout organization is being formed at Holy Name school, under the sponsorship of the Holy Name society. To enroll boys must be 12 years or older.

Scout Commissioner Bankert, has arranged to have the committee of the Holy Name troop and the executive committee of Troop 19 attend training school on scouting at the village hall for four consecutive weeks on Wednesday evenings.

Members of the Holy Name committee are the Rev. C. B. Vander Borne, P. A. Lockschmidt, Matt Vanden Boogaard, Ray Schellhout, Clarence Gehrmann, Henry Melcher and Adolph Courchane.

Miss Anna Van Thull was elected president of the senior Blessed Virgin sodality at a meeting Tuesday evening at the school. Frances Hubers was named secretary and Martha Vander Velde, treasurer. Miss Evelyn Brum gave a reading. After the meeting a social was held.

Mrs. William Anderson entertained a number of friends at her home Saturday evening. Bridge was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. George McElroy, first, and Mrs. Harold Fird, second. Mrs. Chester Baird was awarded the consolation prize. Others attending were Mrs. Henry Patch, Mrs. Carl Krieger, Mrs. Jack Girard and Mrs. William Kumbler.

15 New Volumes are Placed In Circulation at Library

New London — Fifteen new books were added to the shelves of the New London Public library this week, among them six new mystery stories.

Most unusual of the new volumes is Christopher Morley's new offering, "Kitty Foyle" in which a woman's thoughts provide the narrative. Hugh Walpole's profound knowledge of the psychology of minds warped by the singleness of one idea is woven into his new novel about a family in an old tower by the sea in England, "The Sea Tower."

"Test Pilot," by Jimmy Collins is the story of what it means to be an airplane test pilot by one who tested hundreds and sacrificed his life at his job. The book was written between tests before his tragic death.

J. E. Priestley offers an antidote for the tension between nations in a novel of today that is gay, romantic, tender, laugh-provoking, wise and nonsensical by turn. The book is "Let the People Sing."

A story of the World War in terms of the siege of Verdun is unfolded in a road panorama by Jules Romains in his book "Verdun."

New mysteries include "The D. A. Draws a Circle" by Edna Stanley Gardner; "Death at the Bar" by H. G. Wells; "Murder in Shinbone Alley" by Helen Reilly; "A Picture of the Victim" by John Stephen Strange; "No Wind of Blame" by George H. Meyer; and "Mr. Clunk's Text" by H. C. Bailey.

Additions to the western stories are "Gunsmoke in the Hills" by Ray Palmer Tracy; "The Leather Burners" by Bliss Lomax; and "The Coyote Hunter" by Denver Bardwell.

New London — Girl scouts of Troop 2 of the Methodist church were surprised at a Valentine's day party at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Ralph Morison, scoutmistress, and Miss Alice DeYoung, assistant. Games entertained and a lunch was served. The meeting was postponed from Tuesday.

Hops Once Sizeable Farm Crop in Parts Of Waupaca County

Royalton — Here and there on farms in the township of Royalton and throughout the county are stray hop vines, bits of evidence of a crop raised here 75 years ago which in its time was an industry of considerable scope. About the close of the Civil war farmers turned their attention to hop raising and it reached its height about 1875. Most farms had from two to ten acres.

Some of the pioneer farmers in this locality who raised hops were Henry W. Crane, Sr., Solomon Hobart, Caleb Hobart, Sr., C. E. P. Hobart, Edwin Hobart, Christopher Sullivan, George Harkness, James Thompson, M. Halstrom, M. Beckinham, Peter Meiklejohn and William Waterhouse. Those who had the largest acreages had hop drying houses, and other growers brought them there to be dried. Caleb Hobart Sr. had one in his farm.

Ask Registrations for WPA Dancing Classes

WPA dancing classes will be resumed and new ones will be formed Saturday, according to Miss Eva Hoffman, WPA recreation leader.

Registrations for classes will be taken at 108 E. College avenue from 3:30 to 5:30 Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, at the Eagles hall where classes will meet. Boys and girls over seven years of age interested in dancing have been asked to register.

The groups will start now to prepare for the second annual spring festival which will be held again at Pierce park, tentatively in June.

The variation in the price of hops was greater than that of potatoes. In 1873 the price went from 10 to 30 cents per pound and in a few places where there was speculation by buyers, it reached a higher point.

Some of the big hop merchants in this section of the state were said to have resold their seasons' buy of hops at $7.50.

Near the close of the industry prices dropped until hops that had been carried over brought as low as one and three-fourth cents per pound.

The decline and abandonment of hop raising here was due both to foreign imports, and large hop growing in the western states.

It was noted that time that Waupaca county farmers launched heavily into potato growing.

THE CHARGE OF "TINKERING"

The statistics quoted by President Roosevelt purporting to show how much better off the country is now than when he took office are defined by Washington correspondents as his answer to charges made recently by Republican candidates for the presidency.

Perhaps they also were intended to answer criticism which has come lately from both of the two most powerful labor organizations in the country. This criticism could easily, and perhaps should, concern him even more than the attacks of presidential candidates. The candidates would be expected to criticize his administration. That is a campaign necessity. But the labor organizations are not bound by party affiliations and are free to criticize either the Democrats or the Republicans.

Voters as well as the President may be expected to give close attention to labor's criticism of the administration. The violent broadside that John L. Lewis fired may be discounted by many because he is known to be given to verbal excesses, but the statements that have been issued by more moderate officials of the AFL command wide public interest.

The most pointed of these statements, which followed an appeal from the executive council of the AFL to give business "a breathing spell," was: "The most tragic result of the seven years of experimenting has been the destruction of confidence by incessant tinkering. . . . Scarcely a month has passed without action or rumors of action, which would alter the plans and outlook of labor and industry."

In this statement the labor leaders were putting their fingers on the chief cause of trouble—lack of confidence.

Democrats who try to slide over this point will be playing ostrich and will be doing neither the President nor their party any good. They should be as insistent as the Republicans for an answer to the charge that the administration has undermined confidence.

And the great body of independent voters who finally will decide the election will decide which party offers the best program for restoring confidence.

RESEARCH OR WHAT?

First important positive part of the Heil administration's state government reorganization program in the beginning of the 1939 legislative session almost a year ago was the creation of the division of departmental research, a new agency supposed to examine the affairs of the 100 odd existing state departments and institutions for the purpose of recommending consolidations, retrenchments, economies, and general improvement in efficient service to the public.

Since that time the research division—given an unlimited first year budget by the legislature at the suggestion of the governor—has done two important things. It studied the personnel of the motor vehicle division, one of the capitol's biggest, and recommended a reduction of the names on the payroll by almost 100. It also held long public hearings in an investigation of the state highway commission. Beyond that we have heard little. Capitol dispatches quote Mr. Frey, head of the division, in vague statements of future plans, but there is little to show for the result of the bureau's first year of work.

The state government, disbursing and collecting more than $100,000,000 annually, is one of the biggest businesses, in point of financial volume, in the state. It is growing bigger every year, and we ought to know whether that growth is really necessary, or whether it is the traditional result of the bureaucratic habit of perpetuation and multiplication of public agencies and functions. There is no more reason that government's affairs will be conducted efficiently without vigilant supervisory control than there is for other enterprises. Periodical examination of the conduct of state offices is a healthy thing.

But now we expect a report on progress made, of findings, and recommendations, if any. The bureau has made serious charges against the highway commissioners, charges now more than two months old, and not yet substantiated. It has hinted of irregularities in approving state contracts, excessive expenditures, loose management of funds and personnel. Such statements should not be made without justification and proof, and then remedial action, if only out of justice for the men so impugned.

The legislature intended the bureau to be a temporary agency on its present scale when it granted an unlimited appropriation for its first year of life, and only $15,000 annually thereafter. The first year's funds will end on July 1. Therefore, if the state emergency board is to grant additional funds after that date, as Mr. Frey has suggested, the bureau could use some public sentiment to support such a request.

That kind of support can most easily be obtained by informing the public of what has been found, or accomplished, if anything. Otherwise there may be some excuse for listening to those of the opposition who are suggesting that Mr. Frey wants to delay such material until later in the summer, when it can be useful in the next state election.

OUR DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA

It may be the guards of many Americans a lot of good were to be broken off relations with the Kremlin but it would be a juvenile gesture nonetheless exhibiting some of the flimsy gallery stances that have already created an ocean of turmoil upon this planet.

No nation is always going to please every other nation. Hot differences of opinion are bound to develop. At what point shall these differences be permitted to rupture the ordinary channels of commerce and communication? The only safe answer is to preserve the open door between nations until a declaration of war makes that condition impossible.

The American people have always been hostile toward Russia. They have hated the pogroms of the czars no less than the purges of the "Brotherhood of Mankind." The curfew of the nobility and of "The Workers Paradise" have been a two peas in a pod. If we kept the Romanoff czar's hand our fingers can stand the touch of Stalin's icy clasp. Retaining customary diplomatic relations is in no respect an approval of an existing regime.

Neither should recognition be broken off because Moscow has violated its pledged word to us with the sang froid of a panhandler. No one of ordinary intelligence expected the soviets to keep their word. Moreover England, France and quite a number of others have broken their words and their written obligations both in respect to their borrowings and the terms of a certain treaty of peace that was written twenty years ago.

When nations break off diplomatic relations they merely make uglier an already ugly situation. And they gain exactly nothing.

AMERICAN INCONSISTENCIES

One of the most difficult things for a nation today is to be consistent officially and unofficially. The United States, for instance, is right now being what we would admit is inconsistent on the war question, but which the peoples of other nations might define more harshly as hypocritical.

We pray for world peace, individually. We urge it, officially. We denounce Russia's assault on Finland and Japan's aggression against China.

These expressions, we claim, voice the non-militaristic, philanthropic and sympathetic ideals of America.

At the same time that we are speaking volubly for these ideals we are sending materials to Russia that Russia needs to continue her ruthless raids on Finland and we are sending materials to Japan that Japan needs to continue its slaughter of Chinese.

For instance, copper exports to Russia totaled 17,657 tons in December, an unusually large amount for shipment to that country. Just the other day authoritative sources reported the transfer of 5,000 tons of copper from an American ship to a Russian ship at Manzanillo, Mexico.

A noted missionary recently returned from China tells of the Japanese practice of letting wounded Chinese die without attention, so that they will suffer to the limit. The missionary tells of trying to go to the aid of a wounded Chinese and of being prevented by the barred bayonets of two Japanese soldiers. "That," said the missionary, "is one of the reasons I came back to America. The steel that made that bullet (that wounded the Chinese, a civilian) was American steel. The bayonets that kept me from helping him were American steel."

We may talk sanctimoniously of the barbarism of other nations. We also should be reminded that our own contributions are not above reproach. The effect of a bullet is the same whether it has official approval or not. Congress might well consider ways of making this country consistent on the matter of neutrality.

SUMMER COTTAGE

Picture of the cottage, Painted in a book,
On a winter evening
Decked us to look!

Here the blue lake shimmers
In the moonlight sun,
And a green path wanders
Where the deer have run.

Lonesome birches listen
For the bird's first call,
Roses dream of climbing
On a sunny wall.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Recent cabinet meetings have thrown some light on why Under Secretary of State Welles was dispatched suddenly to explore peace prospects in Europe.

At these cabinet meetings, the president has expressed two views regarding peace. He feels that heavy fighting may come on the Western front by spring, for by that time Hitler may be obliged to attack the Maginot line. So Roosevelt hopes that peace overtures may be started in time to head off this major war move.

Second, the president feels that should this olive branch fail, still it might pave the way for another peace move in autumn or late summer. He bases this on the belief that Hitler's drive on the Western front is sure to fail, and that afterward the German government will be in greater need of peace.

Secretary Hull also has expressed important views in recent cabinet meetings, agreeing with the president regarding point one, but not point two.

Mr. Hull fully concurs that there may be a chance for peace now, before the spring drive gets under way. But he does not share the president's optimism that once the drive is started, it will be possible to revive peace efforts in the autumn.

Hull fears that cities will be bombed, civilian populations will become enraged, bitterness will eat deep into the hearts of both sides. He fears the war may become like the Spanish civil war, where neither side could find a foothold for peace. For that reason he believes Europe's one real hope for peace is to act now.

At any rate, the president and his secretary of state emphatically agreed that the time to send Sumner Welles to Europe was immediately.

TROOPS TO FINLAND
Latest confidential dispatches tell of 60,000 allied troops preparing to bolster the Finns and the Swedes. They consist of one Canadian division, one Polish and one French.

Also the 300 British planes reported by The Merry-Go-Round last week as secretly sent to Finland, may have increased to 400. Most of them are Hurricanes, an A-1 type of plane. The pilots are largely Italian.

Continued resistance on the Scandinavian front fits in with Roosevelt's peace moves because it keeps attention focused away from the Western front where the fighting will be tough when it starts.

NAVAL PORTUGUESE
Secretary of the Navy Edison, after being royally entertained at the Brazilian embassy, invited a Brazilian party to be his guests at the Navy relief ball. They accepted, came to the ball, and sat in the secretary's box.

Just as the affair was getting started, one of Edison's aides rushed up to Commander Carl F. Holden, and said, "Look here, Holden, you'll have to lend a hand. The secretary has got a party of Brazilians in his box, and he needs somebody to speak Portuguese."

Holden, who formerly served on the U. S. Naval Mission to Brazil, joined the party. When the music began, he asked one of the ladies to dance.

On the dance floor, Commander Holden launched into a pleasant line of conversation in his best Portuguese. Then he paused, awaiting a response from his companion.

"I'm very sorry," she said, "but I don't understand Portuguese. I'm Mrs. Edison."

ASSOCIATED GAS SPORTS
Several "beautiful friendships" have been broken over the future of Associated Gas and Electric company, whose 50 different companies supply power and light to almost one quarter of the entire United States.

The company faces bankruptcy, and the federal government, with a big unpaid tax bill, is the largest creditor. Because of this, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Attorney General Jackson went into court last week to ask that the Securities and Exchange commission be made trustee.

They did not say so, but one reason behind their request was the report that Homer Cummings, former attorney general, was in line for the trusteeship.

Cummings has represented the sisters of Howard Hopson, head of Associated Gas and Electric, who are large stockholders. Though he was once a New Dealer and the boss of Bob Jackson, Jackson opposed the idea of Cummings' appointment.

Another man in line for the vital post of A. G. and E. trustee last week was John Hanes, former under secretary of the treasury, and right hand of Henry Morgenthau. When Hanes resigned last month, gushing letters were exchanged with Morgenthau professing their firm friendship.

However, Morgenthau last week was found working against the appointment of his firm friend and ex-assistant to this lush trusteeship, which some people believe will net $1,000,000 for the man appointed.

Meanwhile the SEC declined appointment of itself as trustee. Behind the scenes it promoted Johnny Hanes for the job. Inside the SEC, the idea has been broached of dividing up A. G. and E. into eight different systems, perhaps eight small TVAs.

Note—Although technically bankrupt, Associated Gas and Electric actually owns some of the soundest subsidiary companies in the country, and Wendell Willkie of Commonwealth and Southern is reported jolting his chops in anticipation of gobbling some of them up.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
A member of the cabinet will soon have pungent things to say about Tom Dewey, based on copies of letters from women who were his key witnesses in vice trials; also on the cases of witnesses who were held in prison for six months or more with no charges brought against them.

Jack Garner forces aren't getting along well with Jim Farley's especially in New York. . . . Francis Sayre, high commissioner to the Philippines, is getting into a lot of people's hair around the interior department.

Keep an eye on Morris Ernst as a candidate for Mayor of New York City. He is the hard-hitting lawyer who forced Mayor Hague to accept the CIO in Jersey City. Ernst probably will have American Labor party support. . . . Incidentally, Ernst has just written a new book, "The Censor Marches On," which is worth reading for the lowdown on what goes on behind the scenes in the radio and movie studios.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—So hard did Secretary of State Hull trample on the toes of Russia's Ambassador Constantine Oumansky at their recent conference that almost any sort of a howl might have been expected.

Neither Ambassador Oumansky nor Secretary Hull said anything officially after the conference.

But it was a hot session, and the story as it is being told here—Oumansky had plenty to kick about on behalf of his country, and probably had been told pretty forcefully to do some kicking. This country has not even tried to hide its hope that Finland will knock Stalin's legions into the Volga.

But the "kick-off" incident seems to have been a speech by Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson in New York before the state bankers' association. He referred to Finland as an "outpost of modern civilization" "presumably beyond Finland was only barbarism."

"Again," said Johnson in the speech, "the world beholds the proof of the age-old axiom that a free man is worth at least a dozen serfs." He referred to Finland's foes as the "forces of bigotry and oppression" where "politics and purges stymie the officers in command and blind submission dominates the men in the ranks."

White House Approval
With such stinging phrases in his mind, the smallish, trimly-built Oumansky swept into the state department. Doubtless he knew, as all Washington knows, that important speeches by Louis Johnson and other members of the little cabinet are usually passed on by the White House before delivery. That added to the sting.

Hull had a caller, so Oumansky had to wait 15 minutes. Further indignity.

At last into the Secretary's office he strode.

Hull, as usual the polite Southern gentleman first, the hard voiced diplomat second, arose and asked Oumansky to sit down.

"I will not sit down," said Oumansky. "This is not a social call, I am here on business. I have come to protest."

"To be sure," said Hull, sitting down to await the blast.

"We have been insulted," snapped Oumansky, whose perfect English, according to some accounts, wavered at points.

"We are a civilized nation. We are not serfs. We are a free people. I protest at these insults."

"We'll Pigeon-Hole It"
Hull, whose soft brown eyes concealed a Tennessee crust as hard as Russia's best tank armor, listened to the outburst, then followed with one of his own, in words parallel to the following:

"Mr. Ambassador, ever since Russia was recognized by this country in 1933 this country has filed protest after protest with your country."

"We have it that he did not name them, but hot in his mind no doubt was recollection of the cavalier treatment of U. S. Ambassador Steinhardt when he sought to gain information of the 'City of Flint' held at Murnau."

"Your country, Mr. Ambassador, seems to have a pigeon-hole as big as a wastebasket into which these protests go, for we never receive a reply from you."

"Well, this country is going to start a pigeon-hole of its own, a big red pigeon-hole. And this protest is the first thing to go into it."

That ended the interview. What further Oumansky said has not come to us. Oumansky left the office, told reporters he had come only to discuss current events with Secretary Hull. The Secretary, asked if the interview had been "satisfactory," declined to comment.

His exports in official circles indicate he thought it was satisfactory, very satisfactory.

THE SALARY QUESTION

Editor Post-Crescent—By the action of the council at a meeting, the aldermen set the amount for an alderman as his salary at $400 for the coming year. Had the former council set a reasonable amount as a salary the voters would not have needed to hold a referendum as to the salary to be paid for their services. If our city attorney had drawn up an amendment stating that the voters of the city voted to pay only 250 dollars a year for each alderman as his salary, at a referendum held in this city, the city attorney could ask our Senator, also our Assemblyman to try and add that to the statute, as our state legislature was in session at Madison at that time. The voters expect the city attorney to comply with the wishes of the people when so large a vote as was given at the last referendum held here, the voters will remember the law makers that comply with and do as the voters ask. Here is what was in letters sent out to some voters last March relative to the referendum as to the aldermen salary. I have one of the letters here. It said I will abide by the wishes of the people and I pledge the maximum of service to my ward and city. We know what the voters done to Governor La Follette in 1938. Up to now there were some 230 representatives dropped from the state pay roll as a result of an economy program, a result of about $300,000. In the motor dept., 95 people were laid off. If you sold an old car even to a wreck-

WHENEVER YOU HAVE TO GO, JOHN—

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The on-looker is sometimes amused at the manner in which men in political life can gloss over the little inconsistencies which impress themselves upon the private citizen.

Reporter's note book brought back several examples from the Wisconsin Rapids meeting of National Committee man C. E. Broughton, the Democratic followers.

Mr. Broughton himself furnished a case in point.

The Sheboygan man Saturday evening sat in a place of honor at a banquet table which also seated a list of Democratic celebrities who heaped ridicule on Gov. Heil and his administration and its policies.

But Mr. Broughton, the beneficiary of Heil administration patronage, in the contract for official state printing while both Broughton and A. Matt Werner, his business partner and one of his endorses as a New Deal convention delegate, accepted distinction as honorary colonels on the governor's staff.

Every competent correspondent in the capitol will testify that during most of the 1939 legislative session, Mr. Bolens was the most valued ally of Mr. Heil.

Mr. Bolens was the undisputed master of the Republican-Democratic coalition which ran the 1939 legislature. He was more important to Heil than any single Republican member, whatever the Republican's stature.

But Mr. Bolens got up to draw derisive laughter from the Democratic audience with digs at the executive and the Republican administration.

Then came Tom Millane, manager of Senator Duffy's ill-fated campaign for reelection two years ago. Millane is now referee in bankruptcy in Milwaukee, by appointment of Mr. Duffy, now federal judge, and reputedly earns $10,000 a year in his job. Millane was toastmaster.

Almost his first remark to the banquet audience which numbered a good number of other federal employees, was the assurance that it was not a political meeting, and that Senator Hatch's famous statute prohibiting their political activities should not alarm them.

It was a meeting of politicians, called by politicians, addressed by politicians who spoke on politics. But it was not a political meeting.

OTHERS
A prominent visitor at the convention, and one given an introduction at the banquet, was James Corcoran, former state Democratic chairman, former with the aid of Bolens and other senate Democrats

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HYPOGLYCEMIA

A man with a clean record as a driver drove his car very slowly between two lines of traffic. He managed to collide with three cars in the left side line. The drivers of the cars emitted the usual polite remonstrances, but the man paid them no heed. A truck stood waiting for the signal a few yards ahead, so the man took a crack at the truck, so to speak, caromed off, skidded a ways and finally came to a standstill on the pavement. He was doing well enough up to that point. Then the cop caught up with him, saw the man was dazed and not quite conscious of what was said to him. After all, there's a situation where you need all your wits about you, unless, of course, you're Irish.

Well, you may have just one more guess if you like. No, no, the man had not had a drop. Indeed it would have been far better if he had stopped somewhere for a quick one before he tackled the traffic, that is, if he had made it straight grape juice, milk, well sweetened tea or an ice cream soda. For it developed that the man had been under the influence of insulin and in no condition to drive a car. So the judge fined him one buck, ordered him to pay $12 costs and suspended his license for five years with the understanding that he might apply for revision of the suspension if and when he became fit after six months.

You see, the man had taken the dose of insulin his physician had prescribed. But improvement had taken place more rapidly than he realized, so that the dose of insulin which had formerly been just enough now proved too much, with the usual result of too much insulin, too great a reduction of the blood sugar, a state which doctors call hypoglycemia. Insulin shock is hypoglycemia. But hypoglycemia is not necessarily insulin shock, at least it may occur in other circumstances than diabetes in individuals who have never had a dose of insulin. And in such cases the lowering of the blood sugar level may be moderate and give rise merely to some vague distress, apathy, vague anxiety or ill humor which the victim may not realize is essentially hunger, unless he or his friends notice the quick restoration to normalcy after he takes some food.

In some instances the lowering in blood sugar brings more serious disturbances and strange behavior which is often considered drunkenness or lapse of consciousness closely resembling petit mal (minor epilepsy) or even convulsions like grand mal (major epilepsy).

The automobile driver whose case is cited above deserved the punishment imposed by the court. No one who receives insulin treatment has a right to drive a car or assume any other responsibility which concerns the safety of others, for it can never be predicted whether or when such a person may experience insulin shock (lowered blood sugar, hypoglycemia) and become temporarily incapable of using good judgment. It is different with the individual who does not take insulin for diabetes or other ailment but suffers fortuitous spells of hypoglycemia.

last year, quite openly came to terms with the Heil administration, with the result that Heil, the fervid anti-New Dealer, gave Corcoran, the New Dealer's ally, another term as head of the state conservation commission. There is also little doubt that the friendship between William J. Conway, Democrat, toward the Heil reorganization program, was a factor in Heil's decision to give him another term on the state tax commission. Members of the Conway family were also prominent at the Broughton New Deal convention.

It is more than this reporter can fathom.

Bonuses Taxable As Salary Under State Income Law

Must be Reported as Part Of Total Earnings in Making Returns

There may be a difference in "tax district residence" and "correct address," the state department of taxation today advised taxpayers who are making their 1940 state tax returns. The former is the town, city or village which levies the real estate tax on the home in which the person lives and the latter is the post office address.

The 1 per cent of salary withheld by employers and paid to the federal government under the social security act must be included in the total amount earned. All bonuses received from an employer are subject to tax the same as salary. Maintenance, such as meals and lodging given in addition to a cash salary, is construed as additional salary and should be reported at its fair value, together with the cash salary received.

If an individual is unemployed for a portion of the year and receives unemployment compensation insurance benefits, they must be reported as they are taxable the same as salary.

Interest credited by banks to savings accounts also must be reported, even though the interest is not withdrawn from the bank. All interest regardless of its source is taxable except interest received on United States securities.

Chilton Youth Enlists In United States Navy

Chilton—Franklin E. Gruel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gruel, enlisted in the United States Navy for a six-year period and will leave for the Great Lakes training station this week. He is a graduate of Chilton High school and attended the University of Wisconsin.

Earl Kroehnke of the Chilton Millwork company is attending the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen's association meeting in Milwaukee from Feb. 13 through 15. Besides talking shop, Mr. Kroehnke will take part in defending the cup which the Sheboygan Calumet bowling team won last year at the lumbermen's convention. The tournament will be held at the Elk's club.

Foot to Give Paper At Color Symposium

Dr. William J. Foote, formerly of Appleton and chief chemist for the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, Wisconsin Rapids, will speak at a color symposium conducted by the Inter-Society Color Council in joint session with the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry at the Roosevelt hotel, New York City, next Wednesday. Dr. Foote will present a paper on "The Use of Spectrophotometers in Measuring the Color of Coated Paper."

Pegler Criticizes First Lady For Youth Congress Friendship

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The fact remains after the shrill clamor of the so-called youth congress and the soft skush of dissenters striking the pavement outside that this organization definitely harbors groups which are not merely friendly to the United States but actively loyal to Josef Stalin, whose dictatorship is, in the words of President Roosevelt, "as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world." Mr. Roosevelt is not the first to notice this interesting peculiarity of the Moscow government, but his remark, hurled unexpectedly at the mass of precocious pets of Mrs. R., had the political effect of that lewd note known as the raspberry.

In almost every other family this would have been sure to call for private discussion running far into the night, and the Roosevelts being human, Mr. Big's impolite salute to his lady's friends may have been the subject of a continued discussion in private. If so, the public may yet be permitted to know how the argument came out, for the White House is a regular port of call on the night club beat nowadays and is rapidly pulling up toward even with the Stork club, and Mrs. Roosevelt's own lack of reticence is both charming and famous.

Earl Browder's testimony before the Dies committee contained an admission that to a member of the Communist party of America, Josef Stalin is infallible in matters of foreign policy up to and including war and not excepting war against the United States. The position which he stated was not one of divided allegiance to the Moscow government. As head of this organization, the communists in the youth congress, to say nothing of the fellow travelers who are only pledges, so to speak, with the right to renege, are not mere critics but opponents of the American form of government and prospective enemies of the nation. Mrs. Roosevelt has been seen feeding sugar to this Trojan steed—which is not a dashing charger, however, but a swayed-back plug. Her error is not as grave as it may seem, for the congress as a whole is not communistic.

Mrs. Roosevelt Picked Her Prestige And Lost

To change the metaphor and employ a bit of roguishness which would have seemed dreadfully daring a few seasons ago, the youth congress is only a little bit communistic. As to whether it must become more so in the natural course of events before it becomes less so nobody can say. The condition could be cured abruptly, but the best easy but it is possible to tolerate offensive beliefs in a congress of Americans. But it is no offense against the most liberal Americanism to cancel the credentials of those who have chosen to un-Americanize or foreignize themselves to the extent of membership in the communist party.

This one clumsy mistake does not entirely revoke Mrs. Roosevelt's reputation as a smart politician operating in the guise of an enthusiastic novice, but if this were paraded instead of politics at least one of her markers would be set back to scratch. She whooped up the congress and had barely cased out the last ham of the Hollywood internationalists before the kiddies began to slide down the banisters and write letters home on the White House stationery. The congress was her show, and she placed herself in the status of chief lobbyist for a $500,000 appropriation just in time to hear the president pronounce a hex on lobbyists and funny-money subsidies. The adventure soon got out of hand with pestiferous hundreds per centers pressing for adoption of inopportune declarations of American principle for no reason but to embarrass the patroness and with cops diving into the crowd to pluck those muckers out.

Stubbornness and overconfidence were Mrs. Roosevelt's faults here. She was in wrong from the start, because even the most generous Americanism does not call for executive hospitality to anti-Americans, even incidentally. No question of tolerance was involved. Mrs. Roosevelt, nevertheless, chose to risk her personal and official prestige and, for the first time, lost.

WHEN KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES YOU TO GET UP NIGHTS

When Bladder is Irritated When Passage is Difficult When Backache Results

Flush Poisonous Waste and Acid From Kidneys

GAIN IN HEALTH

If you aren't feeling just right—have dizzy spells and occasional backache—study your kidneys and learn more about yourself.

Through the delicate filters of the kidneys, acid and poisonous waste are drawn from the blood and discharged from the body thru the bladder—sometimes these filters are less active than they should be because of excess poisonous waste and kidneys do not function properly—they need harmless stimulation.

One reliable medicine, highly efficient and inexpensive is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules.

This grand medicine has been helping people for 50 years—to relieve their aches and pains by helping conditions caused or aggravated by excess uric acid or other circulating poisons such as is so often the case with sciatica, neuritis, neuralgia, lumbago and rheumatism.

So if you have such symptoms of kidney trouble as backache, nervousness, getting up two or three times during the night—scanty, burning or smarting passage—leg cramps—moist palms or puffy eyes get a 35 cent package of this grand and harmless diuretic at any modern drugstore—it starts the first day on its errand of helpfulness.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original—the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

St. Valentine's Day Provides Motif for Variety of Bridge, Study Club Meetings, Parties

St. Valentine's day, with its red hearts and plump cupids, provided the decorative motif for many a party, bridge club and study club meeting yesterday. Members of the Fortnightly club had a Valentine luncheon Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. John Neller's home on E. Washington street. About 20 women attended the affair. Mrs. Neller was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Margaret De Long, Mrs. Ward Wheeler and Mrs. W. D. Schlafer. After the luncheon Mrs. E. F. Muelke reviewed the novel "And Tell of Time" by Laura Frey. Mrs. T. Ben Wadsworth will be hostess to the club Feb. 23.

Ellen and Robert Buetow, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Buetow, 615 N. Union street, entertained 25 of their friends at a sleigh ride party recently. After the ride the youngsters returned to the Buetow home for refreshments.

The Valentine theme was carried out in the decorations at a birthday party given in honor of C. L. Warner at his home, 115 N. Tonka street, last evening. Cards and dice entertained the guests and Mr. Warner was presented with a bouquet of red and white carnations. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Schell, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steffenhagen, Miss Joyce Warner, Mrs. C. E. Warner, Appleton; Miss Joan Schell, Neenah; and Fred Kramer, Oshkosh.

Mrs. William Feavel, 1316 W. Winnebago street, entertained her club at a Valentine party Wednesday night at her home. Prizes at cards were won by Mr. J. F. ## Pianist to Be Visitor At College

JULIAN DE GRAY, a widely known pianist and faculty artist of Bennington college, Vermont, will visit the Lawrence college campus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, it was announced today.

DeGray will lecture before several classes in both the college and the Lawrence Conservatory of Music and lead informal discussions among students and faculty members. His headquarters during his 3-day visit will be at the student union in what was formerly the Hamar house.

The visiting artist will appear at the college convocation in Memorial chapel at 11:20 Monday morning. College authorities announced today. His recital will be open to the public. He is scheduled to arrive in Appleton Sunday.

A student of the great Matthay in London, DeGray was head of the piano department at University of Miami before joining the Bennington college faculty. His specialization in music followed his graduation from Columbia university where he studied a general course.

Years of study and travel in Europe as holder of the Cutting Traveling fellowship have given DeGray a wide knowledge of language, customs, and politics on the continent. Cyrus Daniel, professor of theory and composition at the conservatory, is in charge of arrangements for DeGray's visit.

Problem of Mill Waste Disposal Will be Studied

Work on Biological Phase Will be First Step In Program

A program for study of mill waste disposal, a problem which has been acute in the Fox river valley for years, was announced today by the executive committee of the Sulphite Paper Manufacturers Committee on Waste Disposal.

The recent announcement by Wisconsin sulphite pulp manufacturers of their intention to study collectively the problem of waste disposal has attracted wide attention, not only within the pulp and paper industry, but also among public officials and agencies interested in the condition of public streams and waters, according to J. M. Conway, president of the Hoberg Paper Mills, Green Bay, and chairman of the executive committee.

The Sulphite Manufacturers Committee on Waste Disposal was formed by 10 manufacturers, producing more than 90 per cent of the tonnage of sulphite pulp produced in Wisconsin, after several meetings. The executive committee is made up of one representative from each company, Cola G. Parker, vice president of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, is financial trustee, and John Strang, of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, secretary.

Immediately upon organization, a technical committee was appointed, chairmanship by Henry A. Rothchild, technical director of Kimberly-Clark corporation, with N. L. Malove, technical superintendent of Northern Paper Mills as secretary. After a series of conferences attended by various authorities on the problem involved, the technical committee presented a detailed report, which has now been acted upon by the executive committee.

At its recent meeting, the executive committee authorized immediate action upon several phases of the technical committee's recommendations and appropriated the necessary funds.

The first work to be undertaken is the study of the biological phase of waste disposal, and the employment of a consultant of high standing and wide experience has been authorized. This consultant will have at his disposal the laboratories and facilities of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, which is deemed to be the best equipped institution in the country for this purpose. Following this study, it is contemplated that a pilot plant will be erected and operated for the purpose of determining the feasibility of the results of the laboratory work.

Concurrently with the foregoing program, the committee has authorized a careful and extensive study of all presently known processes for handling waste liquors through evaporation and incineration. A number of such processes have been presented to the industry, but there have been widely various opinions as to the feasibility and cost. One of the purposes of this study would be to secure an authoritative answer to this latter question.

The committee pointed out that one of the difficulties confronting the industry has been the inability of municipal sewage disposal plants to handle the mill waste sulphite liquors. The committee predicts that the investigations authorized will result in a gathering of complete data and a composite report within the current year. It is expected that the work will furnish an authoritative determination of the feasibility of disposing of waste sulphite liquor by biological means.

Cost Basis

The committee stated that one of the difficulties which has faced not only all industry but also public officials in their consideration of the questions of industrial waste, has been to coordinate and properly evaluate the public necessities with the economic needs of industry in waste disposal. Industry in any state operates in a highly competitive field, and the interests of those employed in industry, as well as the owners of industries, require that waste disposal problems be worked out on a cost basis which does not place the products of a particular producer in a non-competitive position because of excessive costs. Consideration of these features of the problem leads to the third phase of the work to be undertaken by the committee.

The two activities already authorized are confined strictly to the disposal phases, but this third phase, which is much more profound, involves the question of utilization through the production of by-products which may find or create an entirely new market, according to Conway.

It is recognized by the committee that this investigation may take several years and that no statements are presently justified as to the course which this investigation may take. It is the purpose of the committee to subordinate this portion of the program to the immediate problem of disposal. It has, however, authorized an initial study upon which a report is to be submitted to the executive committee designed to define the course which the utilization study may take. The initial study on this phase of the program is to be done by the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

The committee states that the subject of waste disposal and stream pollution is of national importance and that it is the hope of the Wisconsin mills concerned to be the leaders in the solution of this problem.

Car Owners Have Until April 1 to Apply for Plates

Procedure for Getting New Licenses Simplified This Year

Automobile owners must apply for their 1940 license plates by April 1. George W. Rickman, commissioner of the motor vehicle department, warned Wisconsin motorists today.

By having the new plates displayed on their cars before the deadline date, however, owners will avoid the inconvenience of being stopped by traffic officers and required to exhibit satisfactory evidence of having filed their applications, Commissioner Rickman said.

Motorists who still may be in doubt as to the proper procedure in applying for their 1940 car licenses are informed that under new and simplified regulations, a car owner sends his certificate of title to the motor vehicle department, Madison, accompanied by a check, money order or bank draft covering the amount of the license. When he receives his new plates, he also will receive a new title almost the size of a dollar bill. The fee indicated on the title which the motorist now possesses.

Licenses were being issued in the 133,000 series on Tuesday, the commissioner said. The April 1 deadline, fixed by law, cannot be extended by any state official, he added.

"Shatter-Proof" Glass Breaks; Motor, Glass Firms Named in Suit

Chicago — A suit for $10,000 damages filed in United States district court yesterday on behalf of Merritt R. Laubheimer and his four-year-old son, Merritt, Jr., alleged that while the Laubheimer family was motoring near Kenosha, Wis., last Oct. 15 a pheasant flew across the road and struck and smashed the windshield of the Laubheimer car.

The boy suffered severe cuts and possibly permanent disfigurement, the suit charges. The windshield, Laubheimer asserted in his suit, was supposedly "shatter-proof."

Horse Sale Will be Conducted at Seymour

The Outagamie County Horse Sales committee at a meeting last night at the courthouse voted to hold the first horse sale March 2 at Seymour. Chris Roepecke and F. W. Brick were placed in charge of arrangements.

Buyers will be required to pay a fourth down and give interest for the balance payable in six months. Any person in the Outagamie county trade area will be permitted to consign horses. No horse will be listed for the first sale unless guaranteed to hitch and has been acclimated to this vicinity for at least two years.

Traffic Deaths Over Last Year's in State

Madison — Traffic deaths on Wisconsin highways in 1940 have increased over those of 1939, Commissioner George W. Rickman of the motor vehicle department announced today.

Sixty fatalities had been recorded last midnight, he said, compared with 55 at the same time last year. Until Feb. 12 the toll had been lower than for the comparable period of 1939.

Rickman urged motorists and pedestrians to take heed of hazardous conditions during the rest of the winter. The February traffic toll was 26 for each of the last two years.

The committee states that the subject of waste disposal and stream pollution is of national importance and that it is the hope of the Wisconsin mills concerned to be the leaders in the solution of this problem.

Waupaca County Board Returns to State Insurance

Supervisors Vote 23 to 22 After Two Days of Discussion

Waupaca — The Waupaca county board yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution to return from stock insurance companies to the state insurance plan. The vote of 23 to 22 climaxed two days of discussion on the merits of the two plans.

At its November session the board decided to give the stock companies a trial, and only yesterday an engineer completed inspection of the courthouse for its new rating.

L. W. Eastling, board chairman, who opposed reverting to the state insurance plan without giving the other plan a longer trial, urged that hazards be removed so that a lower rate could be had.

A resolution was adopted this morning providing that upon expiration of policies now in force in the county, all fire insurance be placed with the state department. The vote was 31 to 13.

State Senator F. R. Fisher, Waupaca, spoke for the state fire department, and the board also heard Harvey Girard, who represented the various companies.

Add to System

The county again will take on 124 miles of road which were dropped from the county trunk system seven years ago, the board decided.

A resolution before the board as it closed for the noon recess today recommended that all purchases amounting to $1,000 or more be submitted to the board for approval.

The resolution was to be introduced to include all departments and committees and was to be considered at this afternoon's session.

Since Waupaca county now has a blanket WPA project for the improvement of lakes and streams in the county, the board in a resolution petitioned the state conservation department to sponsor the dam and dyke construction to control the outlet of White lake as proposed by the Wisconsin State Planning board.

The county planning board will cooperate to achieve this end. The resolution also requested that the engineering services of the state planning board be retained.

13 Bids Offered On Power Shovel

Proposals Referred to City Engineer for Tabulation

The board of public works yesterday opened 13 bids on power shovels and referred them all to the city engineer for tabulation.

The five low bids are: George M. Hackett, Watertown, $2,350, a used three-eighths yard shovel with a trailer; Hunter Tractor and Machinery company, Milwaukee, $4,300, a used half-yard shovel; Boeck Equipment company, Milwaukee, $4,775, new three-eighths yard shovel with a trailer; Central Tractor and Equipment company, Wisconsin Rapids, $3,300, a re-built three-eighths yard shovel; and Universal Power Shovel Corporation, Milwaukee, $4,185, a new three-eighths yard shovel.

The salesmen of all the firms bidding were interviewed by both the board of works and the street and bridge committee yesterday and another board meeting will be held to make a recommendation to the city council.

The shovel will be purchased to be used mainly as an auxiliary snow removal unit but also will be useful for loading work during the summer months.

Neenah Man Chosen Officer of Badger Lumbermen's Group

Milwaukee — A new method of house planning, through use of blocks similar to those children play with, was described today before the convention of the Wisconsin Lumbermen's association.

D. P. Livingston of Park Ridge, Ill., who described the innovation, said that thousands of miniature houses, no two alike, could be "built" with the blocks.

Building costs now are the lowest in 20 years but an advance in prices is imminent, the convention was told yesterday by Roy Wenzlick of St. Louis, president of the Real Estate Analysts, Inc.

"You'll be doing a client a service to get him to let contracts on a house in the next six months," he declared.

The convention reflected Clarence S. Walker, Columbus, association president, and Don S. Montgomery, Milwaukee, secretary, Otto Lieber, Jr., of Neenah, was named treasurer. New directors included E. E. Holmstad of Black River Falls and Harold M. Buswell of Crystal Falls, Mich., each elected for three-year terms.

Congress Asked To Keep Planes Out of Bermuda

Vinson told reporters that the reductions would necessitate a deficiency appropriation next year. He and Maas contended, however, that the curtailed funds should not prevent the navy from starting construction of four 45,000-ton battleships and four cruisers.

President Roosevelt has expressed a hope that the battleship money would be put back in the bill.

The house scheduled further discussion of the drastically-trimmed measure today after sidetracking it yesterday to consider Indian legislation.

The senate turned to the $1,032,784,115 treasury-post office appropriation bill, which was increased $629,563 by its appropriations committee. The measure still was $11,000,000 below budget estimates.

The committee rejected pleas of Secretary Morgenthau and the coast guard for additional long-range patrol planes for the neutrality patrol.

It also approved a house reduction of $2,500,000 in a proposed $15,000,000 fund to buy strategic war materials, and Mr. Roosevelt requested congress to make the full amount available.

CONTRACT RENEWED

Ben J. Rohan was re-engaged as superintendent of Appleton public schools by the board of education at a meeting Tuesday night. His contract was renewed for a 3-year period, beginning July 1.

Charles DeLand Seeks Fourteenth Ward Council Job

Post Will be Vacated by Alderman Falatic, City Clerk Candidate

Charles DeLand, 903 E. North street, today took out nomination papers for the city council post in the Fourteenth ward. DeLand was a candidate for supervisor in that ward last spring.

The post will be vacated by Alderman William Falatic who has entered the race for the city clerk's post along with nine other candidates. Carl J. Becker, incumbent clerk, will not run for reelection.

Nomination papers were taken out for Edward Grishaber, 1126 S. Oneida street, for the county board position in the Twelfth ward. He will oppose the incumbent, Mike Jacobs, who has filed his papers.

Joseph A. Kox, incumbent city treasurer, today filed his nomination papers for reelection. Kox is unopposed to date.

Nomination papers also were filed today by Henry Vandehy, 1828 N. Appleton street, a candidate for supervisor in the Sixth ward. Papers are being circulated for the Sixth ward supervisory job for Sylvester G. Esler, 416 W. Parkway boulevard, Leslie Gebheim, another candidate for the post, has filed his papers.

Prospective candidates have until next Wednesday to file their papers in the city clerk's office to be eligible for the primary election March 12.

Philadelphia's Wage Tax Brings Results

Philadelphia — The original deadline for first month payments of Philadelphia's 11 per cent wage tax arrived today, but tardy taxpayers were given another ten days to come across.

The tax affects everyone who works in Philadelphia, regardless of residence. Commuters from New Jersey, federal and state employees, even seamen on ships within the three-mile limit, must pay it. Collected "at the source," the tax comes principally from employees' pay envelopes.

Only about $10,000 in revenues from the unique levy was in the city coffers yesterday when Frank J. Willard, receiver of taxes, pushed back the payment deadline to Feb. 25. Fiscal officials expect the tax to yield $1,500,000 a month—$18,000,000 a year. That amount is needed to prevent a municipal budget deficit.

Despite the slow rate of collections, Willard said signs that most payments on January wages and income would reach him before the new deadline.

Bill Provides Duty on Imports of Mink Fur

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington — Congressman Reid F. Murray, Waupaca Republican, intends to offer, this week, a bill providing for a duty of 50 per cent, as well as for limitation on imports, of mink fur.

"This bill is being offered as a result of demands of many mink breeders in Wisconsin," Murray explains. "They feel that the mink industry is in its infancy and must be protected against cheap foreign labor and costs which threaten ruin, if unless there is adequate protection."

Murray is now taking up with government officials the question of imports of various furs which are "sports" of the silver fox family. "Recently," he says, "there has been a movement on the part of foreign countries to avoid the silver fox tariff and quota by shipping what is known as platina, white face, and ring neck pelts in free, with the contention that these furs were not included in the treaty."

The senate turned to the $1,032,784,115 treasury-post office appropriation bill, which was increased $629,563 by its appropriations committee. The measure still was $11,000,000 below budget estimates.

The committee rejected pleas of Secretary Morgenthau and the coast guard for additional long-range patrol planes for the neutrality patrol.

New Probation and Parole Office to Serve 14 Counties

State Branch Will be Operating at Green Bay By April 1

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — The area assigned to the new Green Bay probation and parole office of the state department of public welfare will be bigger than those to be covered by the Madison, Milwaukee or Eau Claire offices, and will include all the counties in the Fox river valley and central and northeastern Wisconsin, it was learned here today.

The new office will be in operation by April 1, and possibly by the middle of March, according to Frank C. Klode, director of the state welfare department.

It will be directed by Holden Olson, assistant supervisor of the probation and parole department.

Counties to be included in his jurisdiction include Price, Vilas, Oneida, Forest, Florence, Marinette, Oconto, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Shawano, Wood, Portage, Waushara.

Waupaca, Outagamie, Winnebago, Brown, Calumet, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Kewaunee and Door.

Four Branch Offices

The division of the field work into four branch offices has been decided upon in the interest of efficiency and economy, according to Klode.

Under the new plan all field agents of the department will report directly to the branch office to which they are assigned.

Field probation and parole offices in the northeastern Wisconsin area, and their districts, include: Ed Sullivan, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee, and Door counties; R. C. Bigford, Waupaca, and Winnebago counties; A. W. Vlack, Calumet, Manitowish and Sheboygan; R. L. Eklund, Shawano and Langlade; Galen Parker, Oconto, Marinette and Florence.

Klode announced yesterday that he has arranged to rent space in the building which now houses the Green Bay district WPA offices, located on Walnut street in Green Bay.

File Charges Against Rural School Teacher

Du Quoin, Ill. — Rural school teacher Herbert Van Hoorbeck, sought on charges of criminally assaulting two of his pupils, is believed sojourning in Canada with his bride.

State's Attorney L. W. Wiley said last night he filed charges against the 23-year-old Sesser, Ill., man on request of the girls' fathers. They quizzed Van Hoorbeck a week ago about their daughters' accusations, and he promised to face them the following morning. He left that night for Christopher and never returned.

Wiley said he had reports Van Hoorbeck had married and probably gone to Canada.

The youth, a former student at Southern Illinois State Normal University, had taught at the country school near here since last September.

American Woman Is Awarded Decoration By Japanese Emperor

Boston — The American board of commissioners for foreign missions reported today Miss Anne Lyon Howe of Rochester, N. Y., received a cablegram yesterday announcing that the Emperor of Japan had bestowed upon her the imperial decoration of the blue ribbon in recognition of her 37 years as a Christian educator in Japan.

Miss Howe, a native of Brookline, Mass., retired from active service in 1928. Known to many as the "mother of Christian kindergartens in Japan," she was a pioneer in that work and founded the Glory Kindergarten and Training School in Kobe, now one of the finest institutions of its kind in Japan. She was the first president of the Japan Christian Kindergarten Union.

Education at Dearborn seminary in Chicago and Rockford seminary. Miss Howe was a kindergarten teacher in Chicago for nine years before going to Japan in 1887. She is now 75 years old.

James Roosevelt To be Divorced, Newspaper Says

Report Papers in Suit Will Be Filed Saturday at Los Angeles

New York—The New York Times said today that James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president, and his wife, the former Betsy Cushing, to whom he was married 10 years ago, are planning a divorce action in the California courts.

It was understood from mutual friends of the couple, the Times said, that papers in the divorce suit are to be filed Saturday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the daughter of the late Dr. Harvey Williams Cushing, internationally known brain specialist of Boston and New Haven. The Roosevelts have two children, Sara Delano, 9, and Kate, 4.

Roosevelt, who is 32, has formed a motion picture producing company in Hollywood which he now heads. Previously he had been an insurance broker, secretary to his father and a widely discussed political figure.

He turned away from politics after a serious illness in 1939.

He and the former Betsy Cushing met while he was a student at Harvard. They were married in St. Paul's church at Brookline, Mass., on June 4, 1930, two days before Roosevelt's class graduated.

They made their first home, in a European honeymoon, in a cottage in Cambridge. Roosevelt entered Boston university law school, but soon gave up his studies and devoted his entire time to business.

With John Sargent, he organized the insurance firm of Roosevelt and Sargent and wrote several large policies, including a $2,500,000 policy on the life of George Washington Hill, president of the American Tobacco company.

Democrats Must be Wary Till President Reveals His Plans

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Within the Democratic party are any number of leaders who privately think that a third term is unwise. They snuggle up privately to Vice President Garner and say in low voices, "Go to it, Jack, somebody has got to stop him." But do they speak out publicly? Ask the Garner people, who are growing bitter as they see politicians playing a two-faced game.

Clapper

Why don't the Democratic politicians speak out? They are afraid to. They have their meal-ticket to consider. Their meal-ticket consists of the favors that they can get out of the administration—jobs, projects, expenditure of funds, the munitions which feed political machines. What does Frank Hague of New Jersey care about Roosevelt? He was the floor leader of the 1932 convention fight against him. What does Mayor Kelly of Chicago care about Roosevelt? These men are political bosses and they know on which side their bread is buttered. Mr. Roosevelt butters it. What good is a Democratic senator who gets in bad with the administration? If the White House cuts him off he must go it alone, and while he may have peculiar circumstances at home which enable him to survive, it isn't a happy life.

So, as long as there is any chance at all that the president will run again, until all doubt has been removed the law of self-preservation makes these Democrats say that they are for Mr. Roosevelt if he wants to run. If they said anything else, wouldn't they be in a fine fix if it turned out that the president was not going back to Hyde park after all?

In other words, you cannot now have a frank expression of opinion among Democrats. So long as Mr. Roosevelt remains silent in face of the filing of delegate slates pledged to him, as has occurred in several states already, only politicians who are willing to be martyrs will speak up. Politicians don't like to be martyrs.

Governor L. Only One Willing to Risk His Neck

Of all the Democrats mentioned for the presidency, Vice President Garner is the only one who is willing to risk his neck. He has said—and he alone—that he is in the race to the finish no matter who else runs. He is going into the Illinois primary, where a slate of Roosevelt delegates has been entered. Mr. Garner knows full well that he is headed for a bad licking by the Kelly machine of Chicago, which has every interest now in showing that it can deliver the Illinois Democrats to the administration.

That same process occurred in Coolidge's time. It occurred even after Mr. Coolidge had said he did not choose to run, and after he had reiterated to the Republican national committee some months later that his decision stood unalterable. Yet Republican party hacks insisted that Mr. Coolidge did not mean it and worked for his renomination. Mr. Hoover stepped forward as a candidate, but he never knew until he was actually nominated whether Mr. Coolidge would step in and take it again.

Free Choice Impossible Under Present Circumstances

Thus, even under those circumstances, there was difficulty in having a free choice of the party for the nomination. So great was the power of the presidential office that even after Mr. Coolidge had given every Republican politician clear directions to the nearest exit, many of them continued to hang to his coat-tails. A politician is compelled by the nature of his occupation to work under many hazards. He does not voluntarily do it.

So it seems quite clear, on the basis of what took place in Coolidge's last year and on the basis of what is going on now, that so long as a president permits himself to be regarded as a receptive candidate for renomination, it is impossible to have a free choice within the party. Every other candidate immediately finds himself with two strikes on him. That may be democracy, but if so, it is more like the Mexican brand.

Losselyong Services Held at Marshfield

Clintonville—Funeral services for Mrs. Jake Losselyong, 69, formerly of this city, were held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. John's Catholic church at Marshfield. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery there.

Born July 4, 1870, in Manitowish county, the deceased moved to Marshfield when a child with her parents. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Losselyong lived at Marshfield for 8 years and moved to Park Falls and Laona before coming to Clintonville in 1917. In failing health, Mrs. Losselyong had spent the last several years at Marshfield where her death occurred Sunday morning.

Survivors are the widow, of this city; a daughter, Agnes, of Weyauwega; one brother, John Truhler, and three sisters, Mrs. Frank Zweck, Mrs. Frank Staus and Mrs. John Heinzman, all of Marshfield.

Mr. Losselyong returned Wednesday to his home in Clintonville after having been at Marshfield since last Friday.

65 Million Gallons Of Water Pumped at Plant During Month

Pumpage at the Appleton purification plant during January was 65,347,000 gallons compared to 63,069,000 gallons in January of 1939, according to William U. Gallaher, plant superintendent.

Water used during the period to wash filters was 27 per cent of the total pumpage compared to 24 per cent a year ago.

B. Coli removal was 100 per cent while removal of bacteria averaged 99 per cent, the same percentages as last year in January. During the month 1.1 parts per million of chlorine was used, 148 parts per million of activated carbon and 12 parts per million of ammonium sulphate. Carbon used increased from 32 parts per million a year ago. The plant used 35 grams of alum per gallon.

One-third of the cigarettes manufactured in the United States come from three North Carolina cities.

Students Ask Il Duce To Be Peace Mediator

Princeton, N. J.—Four Princeton university seniors, banded together as "The Student Peace Movement of Princeton University," today cabled Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy urging he act as mediator for peace in Europe.

The students, who said the cablegram cost them $14.30, told Mussolini "we have faith in you and feel that you are the only man capable of saving Europe and the world in this crisis by acting as mediator."

The four, calling themselves "directors of the movement," included Robert C. Fox, Jr., of La Porte, Ind., is a member of the junior high school faculty.

Marion Relief Corps Is Making Plans to Buy Flags for School

Marion—L. Ramsdell Woman's Relief corps held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the city hall. The president appointed a committee to see about purchasing flags for the several school rooms. During the meeting Miss Adele Wulke was initiated into the order. Officers who were not present for the regular installation were inducted by the president: patriotic instructor, Mrs. L. K. Forrest; musician, Miss Adele Wulke; color bearer, Mrs. Will Wulke, and assistant guard, Mrs. Gus Herman. For the patriotic part of program the corps sang "America," and Mrs. Forrest read a paper relative to current news.

After the meeting the members were served a lunch by Mesdames Gus Herman, Orville Brewer and Will Borchardt.

Miss Mary-Ann Meyer and Miss Alice Goodson entertained their sewing club at a Valentine party at the Meyer home, Monday evening. Each club member invited a guest to a 6:30 dinner. The evening was spent playing games and solving contests for which prizes were awarded. Betty Bohr received the most small prizes and was awarded the master gift.

Mrs. Will Wulke was hostess to the Ladies Guild of the Methodist church at her home Wednesday afternoon.

County Supervisors Will Fox, Wilbert Zaug and Harvey Meyer of Marion and Will Brandenburg of the town of Dupont, attended the two day session of the Waupaca county board, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. H. F. Peters entertained 16 women at auction Monday evening. Mrs. J. H. Driesen was awarded head prize for highest score; Mrs. Harry Keller, second, and Mrs. Henry Bowers, Jr., consolation.

The Christian Mothers Society of St. Mary's church, held a business and social meeting at the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. The gospel for the first Tuesday of lent was read by Mrs. H. G. Meyer. The secretary and treasurer read their reports and then turned them over to the newly elected officers. Mrs. Mulvaney, chairman, appointed her committees for the year. After the business meeting the members played five hundred. Mrs. Anna Maue had the high score and Mrs. Mike Foley, low. Hereafter regular business meetings will be the first Tuesday of the month. Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Joe Sauer, Mrs. Milton Hubert and Mrs. Ben Maue.

The "Heart Sister week" which was sponsored by the members of the home economics department of the high school, ended Wednesday.

Two Meetings are Scheduled to Map Tournament Plans

Team Representatives Will Confer at Menasha Tuesday Night

Menasha — Plans for the regional basketball tournament at Menasha High school gymnasium March 6 through 9, will be discussed at a meeting of team representatives Tuesday night at Hotel Monasha, according to A. J. Armstrong, tournament manager.

Seven schools already have been assigned to the Menasha regional tournament. They are Menasha, Neenah, Waupun, East DePere, New London, Kaukauna, and Kimberly. Kimberly replaces Clintonville in the Menasha tournament while the Clints will go to the Shawano tourney in place of Kimberly.

In order to make room for the two district winners who will be assigned to the Menasha tournament, an elimination game will have to be played between two of the seven schools. Teams to play in the elimination game as well as the date and location of the game will be decided at Clintonville Saturday.

The meeting next Tuesday night will be attended by coaches, principals, and newspapermen from the cities which will compete in the tourney. A similar meeting was held last year preceding the district tournament. Tickets will be distributed and expense allowances will be determined.

Honor 8 Charter Members of Bible Class at Banquet

First Evangelical Church Group Observes Silver Anniversary

Neenah—Eight charter members of the Determined Workers Bible class of First Evangelical church were honored at the silver anniversary dinner and program in the Valley Inn Wednesday evening. The Rev. Roy W. Berg, pastor of First Evangelical church, was toastmaster. Charter members were Mrs. Fred Helms, Miss Laura Meyer, Miss Lillie Meyer, Mrs. Arthur Mielke, Mrs. Dan Howman, Mrs. Irvan Schultz and Mrs. Edward Schultz.

Congratulations for the class on its twenty-fifth anniversary were extended by the Rev. B. O. Maschmann, Lomira, guest speaker for the banquet program. The Rev. Mr. Maschmann, former pastor of the local church, speaking on the topic "Fitting Our Place in God's Plan," declared that the work which the class has been engaged in during the 25 years of its existence was building, through good material and fine workmanship, for the church itself as well as for the personalities of the people within the class.

"The hope of celebrating a golden anniversary," said the Rev. Mr. Maschmann, "should be the hope of the future although you do not know what the future holds, but from the hopes for that future, do not shrink. Do your tasks each day. Through the years, you pass a milestone of books, friendships, of work together, of comradeship and of Christianity."

The Determined Workers class was organized in 1915 with 18 charter members. The first banquet sponsored by the class for older members of the church was held Feb. 22, 1921, and the banquet has been an annual affair since that time.

Mrs. Arthur Mielke, president of the class, presented a short history of the organization. Miss Elsie Wauda sang a solo during the evening program and group singing featured the musical part of the program also. During the social hour, games were played with prizes going to Miss Thora Knudsen, Mrs. Hazel Meyer, Miss Laura Meyer and Mrs. Mielke.

The storm which was central over the middle Atlantic coast yesterday morning has moved northward and now overlies the upper New England coast. This disturbance has been attended by heavy snow and strong winds over the northeastern states, with over eight inches of snow falling at New York City and over twelve inches at Boston, Mass. Rain or snow also fell over sections of the Rocky mountains and along the Pacific coast, but generally fair weather prevailed this morning over most of the central and plains states.

It is colder over the upper Ohio valley and over the southern and eastern portions of the country, but temperatures are rising over most of the central and plains states.

Cloudy weather with rising temperature is expected in this section tonight, followed by rain or snow and warmer Friday.

Neenah Will Meet St. Mary in First Of 2 Encounters

Rockets Hope to Avenge Last Year's Drubbing

By Zephyrs

Neenah — Neenah High school's basketball team will clash with Menasha St. Mary Friday night at Menasha in the first of two non-conference games. The second game will be March 1 at Neenah.

A capacity crowd is expected to witness the contest, which, for St. Mary, will be the feature game of the season.

Stinging from three recent defeats in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, the Rockets should be in the right mood to down the Zephyrs despite the fact that they will be handicapped by playing on a small court. Neenah also will be out to even a drubbing received from St. Mary in the second game last season, 44 to 19. The Rockets won the first game, 29 to 20.

St. Mary is leading the Fox Valley Catholic league, while Neenah is tied for second place with Shawano in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. New London holding a mathematical margin.

Coach Ole Jorgensen probably will start Buxton Ketterling and Ed Winkelman at forwards; Captain Harold Hesselman at center, and Richard Miller and Julius Hertzfeldt at guards.

St. Mary school officials said that there are about 100 seats available for the game.

Lendrum Arrest Brings Protest

Milwaukee Civil Liberties Union Denounces Methods of FBI

Milwaukee —(P)—Denouncing methods used in the arrest of Dr. Fredrick C. Lendrum as "Gestapo-like," the executive board of the Milwaukee branch of the American Civil Liberties Union has demanded an investigation.

Copies of a resolution adopted by the board at a meeting yesterday were sent to Attorney General Robert Jackson, Senators Robert M. La Follette and Alexander Wiley, and Representatives Lewis D. Till and John C. Schafer.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested Dr. Lendrum at his Milwaukee home last week following his indictment in Detroit on charges of helping recruit Detroit residents for service with the Spanish Loyalists in 1938.

The board asserted that it considered the manner in which the agents acted "gross and flagrant violation of civil liberties and constitutional rights to which Dr. Lendrum, as all persons, is entitled under our constitution." The communication continued:

"The committee considered it of greatest importance that some investigation be undertaken to determine those who are responsible for the high-handed and un-American methods used in effecting the arrest of Dr. Lendrum."

The committee alleged that four FBI agents forcibly broke into Dr.

Those Pictures Done by Jack Frost May Really Mean Something to Scientists

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Ithaca, N. Y.—Frost patterns on a window pane have opened a whole new field of scientific conjecture this winter at Cornell University.

Close-up photos, made by Professor Lester W. Sharp, of the botany department, show that the frost nearly always takes the form of some plant life. His pictures suggest that one of the unsolved mysteries of science, the unseen movement of living particles during growth, may be interpreted by watching frost crystals grow.

The photos were taken from inside, directly against the daylight, with a camera equipped with an extension bellows and a 71 inch objective. Slow lantern slide plates were exposed for a few seconds.

Plants which the pictures resemble include sea weeds under water, palms, fossil growths which have disappeared from the earth except in slabs of rock, ferns and heads of grain. The seaweed-like growths and the whistled heads of grain commonly start at the lower edge or corner of a pane where the temperature is lowest. They extend gradually upward.

The ice crystals are lifeless. But physicists have shown that a crystal grows under guidance of electrical attractions that pick up neighboring atoms in continuous streams, much as living tissues are supposed to use chemical reactions. They have discovered even that some parts of living tissue are crystalline.

One puzzle in life is the spiraling of plants, animals and men. Tissues often build up in spirals, usually favoring one direction more than the other. To this unseen structure has been attributed the fact that a blind-folded man, animal or bird, walks, runs or flies in circles, which usually are spirals.

The frost patterns are only two-dimensional, so they cannot spiral. But the photos show masses of registered curves which suggest that if the ice were free, it too would spiral as it grows.

"Although there is much that we do not understand about the development of the various frost patterns," Professor Sharp says, "it is evident that they are controlled in some way by temperature, the amount of moisture present and other factors."

AND VICE VERSA
Oklahoma City —(P)—It isn't always the human beings who suffer when dogs and people live in the same household.

Dr. H. C. Smith of Fort Dodge, Ia., studying the relationship between animal and human infections, has found that sometimes human beings give dogs an itch.

Many diseases can't be transmitted between human beings and animals, but others may be. Most common among transmittable diseases is ringworm. Dr. Smith told the Oklahoma Veterinary Medical association.

Brown County's Chances for Road Funds are Slight

Hopes Fade for Completion of DePere Road This Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Brown county highway officials got little encouragement from state officials yesterday in their request for a special allotment of state highway construction funds to complete the paving of County Trunk X between DePere and Green Bay known as the upper DePere road.

According to George Cormier, Brown county highway commissioner, about $100,000 will be needed to complete the paving of the 34 mile strip. He proposed that the state highway commission make the allocation from the funds designated for secondary roads.

Cormier, who was accompanied by members of the county highway committee, explained that the state four years ago completed the grading of the highway, and that the paved boulevard is now half finished.

William E. O'Brien, with whom the officials conferred, indicated that there is little chance that the request will be approved. O'Brien is chairman of the commission. He said his formal reply would be made in a few days by letter.

The state's projected construction program for the next two construction seasons has been sharply curtailed as the result of the Heil administration's decision to use $8,000,000 of construction allotments for budget balancing purposes.

Detailed plans have not yet been released, but it is known that in three months, are partly the basis for this judgment.

From the standpoint of power, the Japanese are estimated to have lost about 1,000,000 men killed, wounded and invalidated so far and still to have another 1,000,000 spread out on active duty protecting occupied territory south of China's great wall.

Wherever the Japanese weaken garrisons, the Chinese attack. The Japanese, therefore, cannot take large forces from any important area for concentration against new objectives.

Japs Lack Reserves
In addition, they lack the reservoir of manpower at home on which to draw for new operations so that there is believed to be little likelihood that they could drive inland to cut China's life-lines to Soviet Russia, British Burma and French Indo-China.

As long as those supply routes stay open, apparently, the Chinese will be able to continue fighting.

A shortage of war materials, on the other hand, is worrying the Japanese.

Shortly after the expiration of the some counties there will be no construction this year or next, a fact which is already bringing complaints to the executive office.

State highway policy, as far as construction is concerned, according to Governor Heil will be to approve only such projects as are necessary, and to complete those already begun.

Defeats Estranged Wife in Election

Oak Bluffs, Mass. —(P)—An election contest between a husband and his estranged wife on St. Valentine's day resulted in victory for the husband.

The voters returned State Representative Joseph Sylvia to his post as chairman of the board of selectmen, giving him 424 votes to 12 for his estranged wife, Lida, who, during her campaign, promised "action and not cheap talk."

The Sylvias have been estranged two years.

OLLIE GOSENS and Gygi each sizzled games of 244 and Hugh Brinkman tumbled a 625 series to share individual honors during Industrial league matches at Arcade alleys last night. Top team totals were turned in by Woolen Mills with a 1,012 game and Power Company Washers with a 2,860 series.

Fredericks Barbers took a strong hold on the league lead by winning three games from Schlafer Supply company. The Barbers have the title just about in the bag with a 6-game lead and six weeks of matches left. Gossens led the quint last night with his 244 game and a 611 series. Joe Reinebeau adding a 213, Fred Yelg counting 210 and Kranhold showing 206. High for the losers was Harold Lippert with a 175 game and 512 series.

Chair Company won the odd game from Pond Sports as George Beck tripled 522 and Mike King singled 191. Gygi pounded his 244 game and a 560 series. Myron Seims smashed 232 and Sid Cotton grooved 215 for the losers.

Power Company Washers tripped Atlas Printers in two games as Al Stillman totaled 533 and Tomlinson rolled 203. Tops for the losers was Arnold Meyer with a 200 game and 594 series. Vander Velden bolstering the count with games of 202 and 204.

Strengthen Position

Woolen Mills strengthened their second place position with a 2-game win over Tuttle Press, losing the second game by four pins. Clem DeYoung whacked a 611 series on games of 217 and 225. Lee Barlament jolted 226 and O. Radtke counted 204 and 218 for the winners. Jack Fumal had 177 and 524 for the losers.

Wire Works dominated Power Company in two games as William Leselyong thumped 213 and 577. Clem Antonetti pummed the losers with a 206 game and 537 series. L. Gergen adding 201.

Atlas Embossers took two games from Montgomery Ward as Richard Nabeidoff collected two games of 201 for a 581 series and O. Kranzusch tallied 201. Joe Herman maintained the losers with games of 225 and 214 for a 594 series.

Mellow Brews advanced in circuit standings with a 2-game win over Coated Paper. Wilbur Strutz led the winners with a 201 game and 544 series. Lee Rockner was high for the losers with a 518 series. T. Fischer counting a 195 game.

Post Office picked up two games from Al's Bar as Hugh Brinkman smashed games of 232 and 215 for a 625 series. W. Grimmer adding 206. Orville Perrine walloped games of 212 and 203 for a 598 series and Schmidt hit 209 to top the losers.

WILBURN SIGNS

Clintonville Sees First Win
In Northeastern Conference

CLINTONVILLE—Friday evening if everything goes well, the Clintonville high cagers should ring up their first win in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference when they are hosts to the West De Pere Black Phantoms. A victory on the part of the Clints would be the first time a conference basketball result was put on the right side of the ledger for nearly six years. The encounter, which is the main thought of the Clint cagers, will end the conference season at home. One game remains to be played at Neenah, Feb. 23. Climaxing the home season will be the appearance of the Waupaca high cagers on the Clintonville floor for an exhibition game preceding the district tournament.

BATTLE FOR CAGE TITLE TOMORROW NIGHT

Kimberly High school basketball team, above, will meet Reedsville tomorrow night at Kimberly in a game that means the championship of the Eastern division of the Little Nine conference if the Papermakers win. If they lose it will mean at least a tie with Reedsville and, if Seymour tips Hilbert, a 3-way tie featuring Kimberly, Reedsville and Seymour. The Kimberly players are, front row, left to right, Paul Smith, guard; Darrell Larson, guard; John Gaffney, guard; Ray Hamann, coach; Bob Willis, forward; Cletus Gaffney, forward; and Dave Smith, forward; rear row, left to right, Frank Van Cuyk, center; Francis Vander Velden, center; "Red" Williams, forward; John Van Cuyk, guard; Toby Vander Velden, forward; and Jerome Wyn-gaard, guard. Hawks, Rangers in 2-Up Hockey KnotFail to Score After Two Overtimes: Playoff
Scheduled Friday

The Blackhawks and Rangers of the Appleton High school American Hockey league last night battled to a 2-up tie after two overtimes at Jones park rink.

The Hawks won a game from the Rangers, 1 and 0, the previous day to go into a 3-way tie with the Bruins and the Rangers for first place in the league. Straws were drawn to see which teams would start the playoff which ended in a tie last night. The two squads will play off the tie Friday night and the winner will meet the Bruins for the league title. The fourth team in the league, the Redwings, has lost all its games.

Orville Shebilske was the Blackhawk hero in both games. He scored the winning marker from the center of the rink to defeat the Rangers in the first tilt and then scored twice last night to assure his team of a tie. He is leading the league scoring column with five goals.

After the American league title is decided, the champion will play the winning Canadian league team for the school hockey championship. William C. Pickett, physical education instructor, is directing the play.

Plywood Cagers in Tenth Straight Win

New London—Plywood Local 2890 won its tenth straight basketball game by edging out a Menasha team, 33 to 30, in a fast and smooth contest at Labor hall here last night. With a 3-point lead the locals staked the last three minutes to regain their breath after a furious pace. They led at the quarters, 9 to 7, 18 to 9 and 26 to 24.

Chuck Pfeifer was high point man for the Plywood with five buckets and two free throws, while Oswieski, Menasha guard, tallied 13 points for the invaders with six baskets and one gift shot.

Frank Guenther Rates
As Gloves Contender

Milwaukee—(P)—Frank Guenther of La Crosse, regarded as a dark horse candidate for the 160-pound open class title, won a three-round decision over Joe Kurlik of West Allis in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament here last night.

Another opening division favorite, Emil Kolodziejczyk of the Needah CCC, outpointed Mike Potkanjan of Butler in three rounds. They are lightweights. Kolodziejczyk has a record of 44 wins in 54 starts. The tourney moves into its final round Monday night.

Eagles and Bears in Football Player Swap

Philadelphia—(P)—Bert Bell, president of the Philadelphia Eagles pro football club, announced today he had acquired tackles Russell Thompson and Milton Trossell from the Chicago Bears in exchange for negotiation rights to Joe Mihail, former Purdue tackle and George MacFee of Duke university.

Thompson, former Nebraska university star, has had four years experience in the National League. Trossell, former Marquette gragger, was a Bear reserve.

Mihail was drawn by the Eagles in December of 1938, MacFee in the 39 draft.

LITTLE CHUTE—St. John High school cagers continued their climb to a tie for the top of the championship of the Fox River Valley Catholic cage league but owe St. Norbert Squires a vote of thanks for the lift as they upset the loop leaders last Tuesday evening at St. Norbert gym in an overtime contest by a 36 to 30 score. The Zephyrs dropped their last two contests, including the Kaukauna game, and local fans figure the leaders are skidding and the next meeting between the two squads will be a tossup. The locals dropped the first contest to Menasha for their only loss while the Zephyrs were bumped off by St. Norbert. St. John defeated St. Norbert here but still have to meet the Squires on their own court Feb. 29. St. Mary of Menasha clash with the locals here Feb. 21.

Friday evening St. John High Dutchmen cagers meet Lourdes squad of Marinette at the local gym. The locals hold a 24 to 12 victory over the visitors. Jimmy Koehn was hot that evening and scored 13 of the 24 points. The visitors will show Coon and Peterson at forward, Lygroes at center and Schulz and Eggers at guard. Murphy, Miller, Sladek and Homa are on the reserve list. The Dutchmen will show Koehn, Dercks or McCabe at the forward wall, Cooney Vander Heuvel at center and Harold and Jimmy Vander Heuvel on defense. Reserves are Bud Versteegen, Van Asten, Gerry Hietpas, and Merlin Versteegen.

Three games will be played with Little Chute Theatre cagers to meet the local Benedictites at 6:30. Little Chute A. A. will meet Lourdes alumni at 7:30 and the varsity will show at 8:30.

Cooney Vander Heuvel is leading the squad in total points with 85, followed by Jimmy Koehn with 82. Harold Vander Heuvel 65, Woody McCabe 19, Harold Dercks 16, and Jimmy Vander Heuvel 13. Gerry Hietpas, Kenny Nault, Stan Versteegen and Merlin Versteegen make up the rest with each contributing some points.

The locals have scored 302 points to 261 for the opponents, which include 110 field goals and 82 free shots to the opponents 90 field goals and 81 free shots.

Jimmy Koehn scored 32 field goals to 29 for Cooney Vander Heuvel but the latter scored 27 free shots to 18 for Koehn.

Harold Vander Heuvel, third in scoring, has made 25 field goals and 16 free shots.

Cooney Vander Heuvel is showing the way at the free throw line with 27 converted shots out of 47 attempts. Followed by Jim Koehn with 18 scored and the same number missed. Harold Vander Heuvel has scored 16 and missed 14.

In comparison with opponents averages the locals have committed 135 fouls to the opponents 137 and missed 70 free shots to the opponents 90.

King George Tries Ability at Hockey

London—(P)—Now it can be told that King George VI took part in his first ice hockey match last month.

The News Chronicle says that "during the early part of last month the king was one of the keenest players among those taking part in an ice hockey match in the open at Sandringham."

The story hadn't been printed before because of the British censorship on the weather. Ice . . . ice . . . Freezing—get it? The game was played on a frozen strip of water near the royal residence.

The newspaper said what his majesty lacked in skill he made up in enthusiasm. The game was unorthodox, as many as 20 playing on a side at times. Some of the players used walking sticks—but not the king, his stick was regulation.

Chaff'n Chatter
By GORDON R. McINTYRE

APPLETON HAS HAD its first taste of Golden Gloves elimination and from the standpoint of a non-interested observer there should be no criticism. For whether you know it or not, handling the number of boxers who competed in the tournament, and handling the 60 fights which were held entailed considerable work, the services of a great many persons and it all was accomplished with only a slight delay over the first hour in the afternoon.

Persons in a position to know said that the meet was held with much less confusion than the first Green Bay tourney several years ago. It also went off much better than the Two Rivers tournament the next night which saw only 19 bouts.

As the show opened in the afternoon there was confusion because the boxers hadn't gathered in a central dressing room. When fights were arranged one of the contestants couldn't be found. Sometimes it was both. But after the trouble was discovered and the fighters were herded into a central place the pairings were announced and the boys prepared for their goes and sent up on the floor to await call. Thereafter things really clicked.

The bouts were unusually good as tournaments go. We could go through the list and ask where you'd find a better fight here, or there, or there. There really wasn't a "lemon" in the bunch and the lads were trying every minute. Some were funny, some were a riot and others were slow. Any card will be that way. And if you can find a single critic it's probably because he saw so many bouts he forgot some of the outstanding ones.

And now, taking another part of the sports department of the Appleton Post-Crescent which, with Oney Johnston Post of the American Legion sponsored the show, there are a few expressions of thanks that we'd like to pass along.

We'd like to thank Drs. Hegner and Carlson for their cooperation in getting the examinations over with and in taking care of a few lads who were injured; referees Otto Cronin and Dauber Jaeger who kept the lads going all the time and who did an all around job; Roger La Berge who was called upon almost at the last minute and proved to be the best speaker in town; Charles Pond, Ed Tourillotte, Frank Pruess and Clarence Bouche for their help in judging; Tom Cahoe, Nibs Knox and Harvey Sherman who were seconds for every bout; Greg Hartjes and Eddie Stern.

De Correvont to

Waldorf; Wanted to Enroll at U.S.C.

Evanston, Ill.—(P)—Bill de Correvont, the prep football sensation of 1937, has two more years of intercollegiate grid activity ahead of him, and like the first, they're still going to be at Northwestern, he said today.

The blond halfback hasn't been "too happy" about his first fling at intercollegiate football as a Northwestern player. In fact, he almost quit the Evanston campus last month to enter Southern California. But "everything is all right now," he declared.

He admitted he had sent a telegram last month asking a Los Angeles friend to find out if he could enroll at Southern California. "I wanted to get away from here then," he explained. "I figured I would be better off at another school."

Under pressure in his sophomore year as a result of the reputation he had built up in high school and dissatisfied with his own efforts, De Correvont added that he "wasn't too happy" about Northwestern's 1939 record (three victories and five defeats).

Then, too, he averred, "I don't think I got too much of a chance. I don't mean that I was discriminated against. I just didn't think that the offensive stuff we were equipped with was strong enough."

After sending the telegram, he said he had a talk with Coach Lynn Waldorf.

"I found out a lot of things I thought were wrong weren't wrong after all. I don't know that I was all wrong, but after talking with him, I could see where he already had plans for making things different. Now I'm satisfied and happy about everything."

Kaws are Primed
To Earn Tie for Conference TitleNeed Win Over Shawano
Friday and New London Next Week

KAUKAUNA—With their victory over Menasha and Neenah's defeat at Shawano giving the Kaws a chance to tie for the Northeastern conference title, Coach Guy Krumm's cagers face the first of two decisive contests here Friday evening. The Shawano Indians come to town, with a visit by the New London Bulldogs next week ending the conference season.

Kaukauna is the only team in the loop with two games yet to play, and two wins will put the cagers in a tie for first place. A loss to New London would give the Bulldogs undisputed first place.

Despite running up a 45 to 30 victory over Menasha Tuesday, the squad was not up to its play of the last two weeks. Shawano appears to be on these days, walloping Neenah Tuesday night, 29 to 15, and any letdown by the Kaws will be fatal. In the game at Shawano the Indians took a 35 to 28 decision, although Kaukauna was playing its second game in two nights, on the previous evening having lost a game to New London in two overtime periods. Last year Shawano came here and went home with a 35 to 16 triumph.

Alger Leads Scorers
Bill Alger continues as the Kaw scoring leader, his 12 points against Menasha bringing his total to 138. Following Alger are Karl Giordana, 98, Joe Bloch, 94, Don Bisek, 77, Junior Swedberg, 55, Bill Tesson, 17, Willis Ranquette, 7, Calvin Spice and Byron Befort one each. Kaukauna has scored 488 points in 16 games, with opponents collecting 365.

The victory over Menasha extended the Kaw winning streak to five games. Hitherto the team could win no more than two games in succession, and that only once. The season record is now 10 and 6, with a conference record of 7 and 3.

NEW LONDON—Going into the semifinals of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference title race, New London High school players will play their last home game of the season with Menasha High school Friday evening at the high school gym.

To win or at least tie, the Red and White must first take the Bluejays. Then the big obstacle will be Kaukauna on Friday, Feb. 23.

A wary Red and White squad will tackle Menasha as the quint took a 25 to 24 score at West DePere Tuesday. It was without the services of Barney Ross, regular forward, but the other four regulars played and were hard pressed. Ross is recovering from an attack of the flu and is expected to be in shape for Friday night if he is needed.

Coach Harold Isaacson called off practice Wednesday and will hold a huddle on session this afternoon.

Rural Guest Night
Seventh and eighth grade pupils of rural schools surrounding New London will be guests of the school at the last home game. Invitations were issued this week to 30 schools and between 125 and 150 guests are expected.

Four boys of the regular five will be playing their last game on the home court. It also will be the last game for three of the reserves on the first string. The regulars are Kenneth Ross, forward; Wally Hamberger, center; Gordon McKiechnie and Kenneth Poppy, guards; the reserves are Anton Herres, Bud Mavis and Dave Stern.

The "B" squads will play a preliminary at 7 o'clock with the regular game scheduled at 8:15. Officials for the main feature will be Bob Koif and Kenneth Hanson of Oshkosh.

JAYS ARE READY
Menasha—Menasha High school players will make their last trip for a Northeastern Wisconsin conference game this season Friday night when they travel to New London in an attempt to stop the title-bound New London quintet. The Bluejay conference season will close a week later when West DePere comes to Menasha.

The Bulldogs need a victory Friday night to clinch at least a tie for conference honors. A championship would be the first for New London in the history of the conference as so far only Menasha, Shawano, and Neenah have won titles.

New London is leading the conference with eight victories and two defeats. All other teams have at least three defeats each. With only Menasha and Kaukauna left on the schedule, New London can gain an undisputed title by winning both games.

On paper the small Menasha team has little chance of stopping New London which will have a decided advantage in height and experience. Menasha lost a 25 to 21 decision to the Bulldogs at Menasha after they held the lead through the first half and into the third quarter. Ross counted 11 points for New London in that tilt but did not play Tuesday night when New London edged West DePere 26 to 24.

The Bluejays came through the bruising Kaukauna game without any casualties except Richard Landskron who injured his leg. Landskron was one of the two high scorers in the Kaukauna game with seven points.

Coach Ansgore excused the squad from practice Wednesday but scheduled a drill for this afternoon. The Jays will receive a lengthy session on shooting practice for they were inaccurate in the Kaukauna game, particularly during the first half when average shooting might have given them a comfortable lead.

St. Joseph Cops Church Cage Title

Defeats Congregationalists Last Night in Playoff Game, 16-10

St. Joseph church basketball team defeated the Congregationalists 16 to 10, last night for the first round title in the Church Basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. The round game ended in a 2-way tie, 10-10, after the first half. St. Joe won the second half, 6-0, and defeated St. Joe in a previous game.

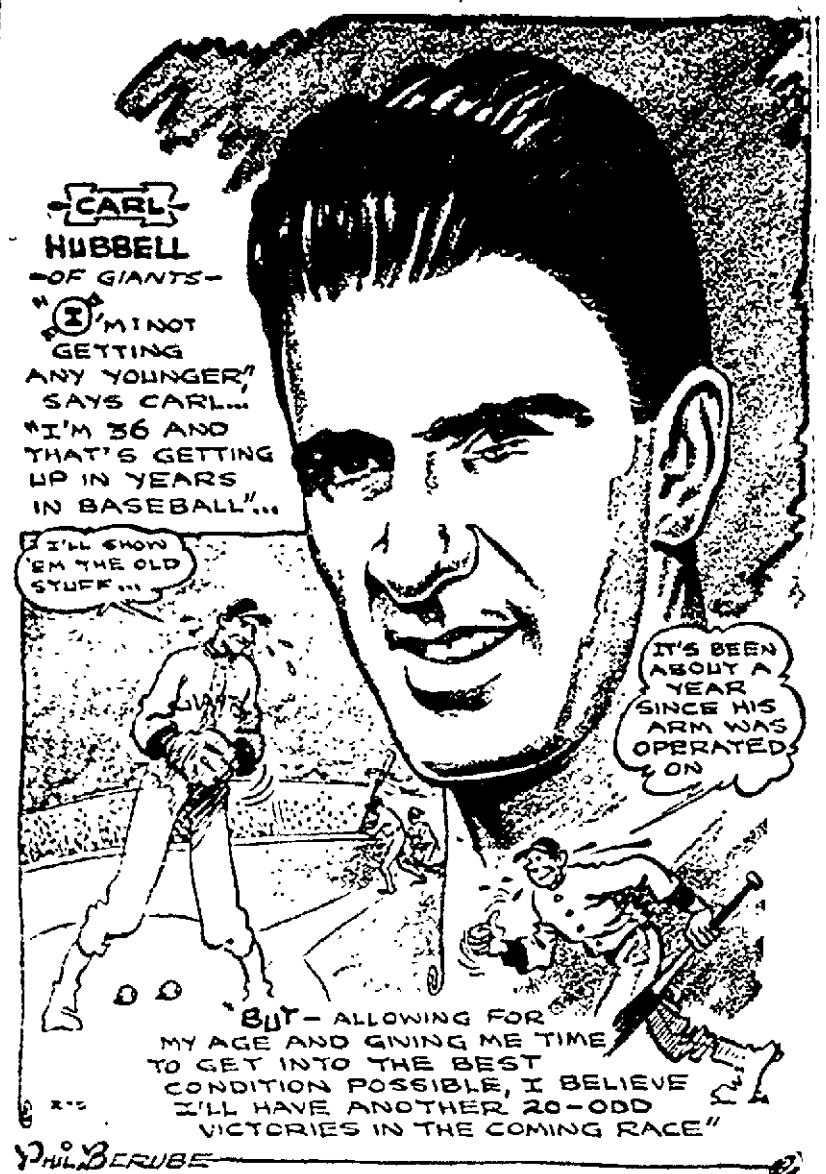

The St. Joe team set up a zone defense which, on the small Y court, stopped every effort by the Congregationalists. They got only two baskets in the first three quarters, all from outside the floor.

St. Joseph led 6-0 at the quarter, 9-4 at the half and 12-5 at the third quarter.

Baseball Players Will Take Part in Benefit for Finns

BY GAYLE TALBOT
TAMPA, Fla. —The 1939 world series will be fought all over again, as far as the managers are concerned, in the all-star game for the benefit of the Finnish relief fund between picked teams from the National and American leagues here on March 17.

Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees and Bill McKeechnie of the Cincinnati Reds have been chosen to pilot the two star-studded outfits. They were offered the posts last night and promptly accepted. McKeechnie displaying a commendable fortitude in view of the lacing his Reds took from McCarthy's Yanks last October.

Bill possibly felt nothing worse could happen to him than he already had absorbed. If his National leaguers should catch it in the neck this time he at least will be able to blame it on the sports writers who will get together early in March and select the two squads.

The National leaguers won't have to tackle quite so many Yankees this time as they faced in the world series and in last year's all-star game. As tentatively planned, no more than four players will be chosen from each team in the two leagues, and only one performer will be brought here from each of the five clubs training on the Pacific coast.

Otherwise, the contest here will follow closely the pattern of the annual all-star game. The rival managers will have full authority to pick their starting line-ups and to juggle their men as they choose. Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis will have absolute control, even to naming the umpires and frowning from a front box.

The park's 1,000 box seats will be sold for whatever exorbitant prices they will fetch, up to $100 per chair.

Selection of the two teams will be somewhat informal, according to the plans of Joe Williams, chairman of the sports division of the Finnish fund. Joe wants all of the baseball writers who are in Florida at the end of this month to get together and pick a couple of squads. His only stipulation will be that they include a half-dozen or so of the stand-out rookies, such as Dom DiMaggio who is coming up to the Boston Red Sox.

The two squads will be gathered here in one bunch and turned over to McCarthy and McKeechnie.

Iola Planning for Cage Tournament

District Class C Meet Opens There Feb. 28; Roels Is Manager

Iola—Iola high school will play host to the district Class C basketball tournament at the local gymnasium on Feb. 28 and 29 and March 1 and 2. Final arrangements for the meet are being made this week by Principal W. M. Roels, tournament manager.

Teams to compete in Iola are: Amherst, Bonduel, Bear Creek, Iola, Marion, Rudolph, Scandinavia and Weyauwega. The tournament opens Wednesday evening, Feb. 28, with Amherst meeting Bonduel in the first game at 7:30. At 8:30 Bear Creek plays Iola.

Thursday evening finds the losers of games one and two competing. Marion plays Scandinavia in the second game and final pairing bring Rudolph and Weyauwega together.

Manager Roels announces that there will be no afternoon games. Eliminations will be played off Friday night and the finals will be played Saturday night when championship and consolation places will be decided. Marion and Weyauwega are acknowledged best bets in the race, with Iola the dark horse.

The two squads will be gathered here in one bunch and turned over to McCarthy and McKeechnie.

Packer Coach and Badger Gridders Talk Over Pro Game

Madison—The bids of four former University of Wisconsin football players for tryouts next fall with the Green Bay Packers, National Professional league champions, were discussed by sports fans here today.

The group, representing some of the best talent on Badger squads of the past two years, talked with Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau at a dinner honoring the Packer mentor and his aides.

They were John Doyle, center of Plymouth, Pa., Ralph Moeller, end of Watertown, Bill Schmitz, half-back of Madison, all of the 1939 team, and Vice Gavre, quarterback of Port Washington, who finished his collegiate grid career in 1938.

Neither Lambeau nor the players, it was understood, made any definite commitments, but the Packer coach indicated he would notify them soon if he could use them.

Ski Cross Country Event at Gateway

National Combined Championships Scheduled This Weekend

Land O'Lakes—A type of ski competition new in many respects to most citizens of this area will be held in the north woods of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan this week when the national class combined championships will be held under the sponsorship of the Gateway Ski club, Land O'Lakes. The event will open on Saturday, Feb. 17 when contestants will negotiate the 12-mile cross country course which traverses the snow clad hills and valleys of the state line country. It will pass across the state line at several points and is announced as a "two state race."

On the following day the jumping events will be held on the picturesque artificial hill of the Gateway Ski club, which is termed ideally suited for an event of this type.

Leading the list of contestants in popular interest will be the appearance of George Gustavson, Placerville, Calif., who will be on hand to defend his title as national cross country and combined champion. Leading the opposition to the national champion will be Pete Fosdick, Douth, present Central U. S. cross country and combined title holder.

Eric Judeen, runner up to the Central Champion and also of Duluth also will be on hand to make the race thrilling.

Baseball Making Way in Australia

400 Teams Playing American Game Despite Handicaps

BY RUSS NEWLAND
San Francisco—Baseball men will be interested to learn that this sport of strictly American origin is making great strides on the other side of the globe—in Australia.

In a land where cricket is as much a part of daily life as eating and sleeping and rugby football is a household by-word, more than 400 baseball clubs are functioning.

With but scant encouragement, the sport has clung on and prospered slowly since the days 25 years ago when the late John McGraw and Charles Comiskey took their Giants and White Sox there on a world tour.

Devotees of baseball are even now struggling against handicaps such as these:

In all of Australia there isn't a regular diamond. Temporary bases and boundaries are laid out on football fields.

The game is played only during the winter. Most of the players also are cricketers and participate in that sport the rest of the time. To meet winter requirements, Fred W. Schellack, manager of a sporting goods firm, produced a waterproof ball.

Until last June there wasn't a single bat in all the country. All baseball players are amateurs; there is not a professional team on the continent.

John Murphy smacked a 220 game and a 559 series for individual honors during final High School league matches at Arcade alleys this week. Top team totals were turned in by Zickler Shoes with an 813 game and Le Van's Band with a 2282 series. Emrich Grocers won the circuit championship, although losing two games to Zickler Shoes. The titlists will bowl a faculty team next week.

All Stars, Redskins Will Meet in Crucial Series

Oshkosh—A great deal of interest in sports circles of the state of Wisconsin centers this week in the series of two games to be played between the state's two rivals in the National Basketball league—the Sheboygan Redskins and the Oshkosh All Stars.

With Sheboygan in first place and Oshkosh in second, one game behind, in the Western division, the championship may hinge on these two contests and capacity crowds are expected in both cities for the tilts. The first will be played Thursday evening at Sheboygan in the Eagles club and the second on Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Merrill school gym in Oshkosh.

The eventual champion of the Western division of the league for the present season may be the team that can take both games this week. When Oshkosh defeated Hammond, Saturday, for the third time in the last of four games this season the All Stars moved up to within a game of the first place Sheboygan quintet. On Thursday, Oshkosh can tie things up by winning and if that happens the game here on Saturday will be a battle royal for first place with the advantage gained being a precious one as the season wanes.

After these two games each of the teams will have only four league games left to play this season. Sheboygan must meet Detroit and Firestone at home and Chicago and Indianapolis on the road while Oshkosh must play Chicago and Firestone at home and Firestone and Goodyear on the road.

The teams split even in their first two games, Sheboygan winning on its home court on Dec. 21 by 37 to 29 and Oshkosh taking the game played here two days later by 49 to 33, so that in total points scored the Stars have counted 78 to 70 for the 'Skins.

Billy Jurgens Demanded $25,000 from Giants

NEW YORK —Her Minneapolis friends are urging Pat Berg by letter and newspaper stories not to turn pro. They say Billy Jurgens demanded $25,000 to sign with the Giants which just about knocked Freddy Horace Stoneham's eyes out.

Our squib of Feb. 8, about Jimmy Aiken, young Nevada U. coach, had the boys out there in a lather until Jimmy assured them his contract would keep him out of the east for two more years, anyway. . . . Jack Dempsey will referee Simon Chavez versus Sixto Escobar in Venezuela, March 24, if the price is right.

Team Man
When specialists last night told Paul Krichell, chief Yankee scout, he has been going around for a year and a half with a fractured knee, Krichell said: "Well, that won't stop me. . . . they can't break up the Yankees."

Those stories out of Columbus, S. C., about Challeon look like the real thing. . . . Harlan Edwards of the Columbia State (who scooped the country on Seabiscuit's lameness last year) says the W. L. Brann colt is not only lame, but may never race again. . . . "He's fat, he hasn't been worked hard and he has no more chance of running in the $50,000 Widener handicap than you have," writes Edwards. . . . Add high scores: The Westerly (R.I.) highs, ran wild against Stonington, 158-12 and there, boys and girls, is something to shoot at. . . . Incidentally, Capt. George Mearns played part of the game for Westerly and scored 62 points.

Buckeyes, Maroons Lead Cage Leagues

Redmen Win in Inter-Division Game by 33 To 28 Score

EASTERN DIVISION

	W.	L.
Buckeyes	5	1
Volunteers	3	3
Illini	2	4
Boilemakers	1	5
Hoosiers	1	5

	W.	L.
Maroons	5	1
Gophers	4	2
Hawkeyes	4	2
Wildcats	3	3
Badgers	2	4

The Buckeyes lost their first game of the season yesterday to the Maroons, 33 and 28, in the Appleton High school Big Ten Cage league but still retained its position at the top of the Eastern division. Kraft dropped seven field goals for 10 points for the losers.

The Badgers defeated the Volunteers 35 to 21, with Clifford McHugh scoring eight baskets to lead the Badgers. Sager of the losers scored four baskets.

The Hawkeyes went on a scoring spree as they overwhelmed the Hoosiers, 47 and 15. Bob Koehnke of the Hawkeyes dropped in eight baskets to lead the scoring.

The Illini defeated the Wildcats and the Gophers won over the Boilemakers, both by forfeit.

Last spring the question about Buster Adams, Cardinals' outfielder, was whether the ankle he "busted" in 1938 with Sacramento would stand the gaff of a swift season's strain. Buster proved it last year and this spring he's the leading candidate for reservist to the Medwick-Moore-Slaughter trio.

Kimberly A.A. Is Beaten, 44-43, by Milwaukee Quint

Papermaker Five Fails to Get Going in the Opening Half

Kimberly-Kadine Jewelers came to Kimberly Wednesday night and squeezed out a one-point victory over the A's with the score being 44 to 43. The visitors led at the quarter, 15 to 8, and 33 to 18 at the half. The Papermakers could not get started in the first half, throwing the ball away and missing some of their chances.

The second half was all Kimberly with the Papermakers scoring 14 points in the third quarter to Kadines' 6, the score being 39 to 32 with Milwaukee out in front. Kimberly scored 11 points in 5 in the last canto with Norb Gossens coming down the floor with the ball as the gun sounded.

Lesser made 13 points for the winners, and Brill made 12. For Kimberly, Bowman sank 11 points with Norb Gossens getting 8.

The A. A. Reserves defeated Little Chute Benedict cagers, 37 to 27, in a preliminary. The Reserves were ahead at the quarter, 12 to 3, and were leading at the half, 20 to 5. In the third period, Kimberly was out in front, 28 to 13.

Wega Gets Big Chance Friday

Wega Gets Big Chance Friday

Meets Marion, Undefeated Leader in Central Wis. Loop

Weyauwega-With only two more games scheduled, Marion appears to be the probable winner of the Central Wisconsin conference basketball championship. The Purpleholders have a two-game margin over Weyauwega, their nearest rival, and cannot possibly get less than a tie.

Only Weyauwega has a chance to crawl into a deadlock with Marion, and these two teams will clash at Marion in the feature game of the schedule, Friday evening, Feb. 16. The Purpleholders have yet to taste defeat in conference competition and will be favored to win over the Indians, but Weyauwega, showing improved form in recent games, has the best chance of any league quint to come through.

Manawa, with an outside chance to tie for a first division berth, will play host to a weak Amherst five, while Waupaca travels to Iola in the third game of the night's schedule.

Central Wisconsin conference standings:		W. L.	Pct.

'Americanism and National Defense' Topic at Meeting

Brillion-A program on "Americanism and National Defense" was presented at the meeting of the American Legion auxiliary at the legion hall Monday evening. The program also consisted of community singing during which the assembly sang their theme song, "God Bless America." The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of the Mesdames John Sheehy, William Schneider, Otto Barth and Robert Geiger. During the business meeting which followed the program it was voted to give a donation toward the M. Louise Wilson's scholarship fund. It was also voted to order poppies. The secretary was instructed to write to the county president and the county highway commissioner to inquire what has been done in regard to the conservation program for the county. After the meeting a lunch was served and a social hour followed.

At the meeting of the Brillion Woman's club at the public school Tuesday evening, the Rev. Thomas A. Hawkes of Two Rivers addressed the audience on the subject of "Peace." Other numbers on the program were a trombone solo by Lorraine Kleiber, a minuet by the pupils of the third, fourth and fifth grades under the direction of Miss Ruth Gottlieb; a baritone solo by Lyle Becker; clarinet selections by Robert Bartz, accompanied by Alice Wordell at the piano, and community singing. In the absence of Mrs. O. C. Wordell, Mrs. Cora Thomsen acted as chairman of the committee. She was assisted by the Mesdames Gustave Hageborn, Frank Wiegert, Jacob Tesch and Miss Adeline Tesch. During the business meeting which followed the program plans were made for the club's twenty-fifth anniversary banquet, which is to be held March 25. Mrs. P. N. Herr is the chairman of the committee in charge. The next regular meeting will be held Feb. 27. The theme of the meeting will be "Legislation." Attorney Charles Barnard of Oshkosh will be the speaker.

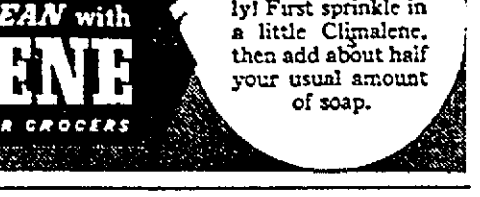

Mrs. Oscar Beilke was hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home Tuesday afternoon. High honors were received by Mrs. Percy Lindner and Mrs. Eugene Becker and Mrs. LeRoy Klein received the floater.

Mrs. William Ross was hostess to the members of her five hundred club at her home Monday evening. "My, how appetizing!" your family will exclaim when they taste these fine foods from your A&P Super Market; and "My, how thrifty!" you'll say when you look over your food expenses. For, the good things to eat that flank our roomy aisles are priced to give you honest-to-goodness low prices. And here's how you get them: we buy many foods right where they're grown or manufactured; this eliminates many middle profits and handling charges; we sell them for cash in our own markets, doing away with credit losses. Many fine foods we make as well as sell. What do we do with the big savings we make? We share them with YOU! Look for the proof in the low prices below!

Pupils at Hilbert Schools Told About Safety Essay Contest

Hilbert—Eaver McMahon of the C. M. and St. P. railroad spoke Tuesday to the students of the public school, St. Mary's school and St. Peter's Lutheran school on the safety essay contest sponsored by the Green Bay chapter of the Milwaukee Road Women's club. The essay covers the subject "To What Dangers Do Children Subject Themselves When They Enter or Play on Restricted Railroad Property?" One prize totaling $60 will be offered.

Essay contests are being held soon for the smaller children who also will receive cash prizes.

Mrs. J. B. Eaver and Mrs. Harry A. Eaver, mother of J. B. Eaver, Sunday school teacher at St. Peter's Lutheran, who live at Steele bridge for many years but for the last few years lived at St. Mary's Bay. Last May she was stricken with a heart attack and has been an invalid since that time. She was moved to Two Rivers at the time of her illness to be near her daughter, Mrs. George Anderson. She has the constant care of a nurse.

Ben Lefebvre, who lives three miles west and a mile north of Hilbert, submitted to an appendectomy Tuesday morning at St. Vincent's hospital, Green Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Holman of Chicago were weekend guests here at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Ziskind. They arrived here Friday evening.

William Brown, an American Legion post, a local boy, held the most interesting Monday evening at the village hall. It was voted to order 400 poems and Mrs. Edgar Burkhardt was appointed chairman of the poetry sales committee. Mrs. Mike Mullerbach was appointed as a representative to cooperate with the superintendents of schools of Hilbert in preparation for the citizenship program of Calumet county to be given in May. Following the business meeting a joint social hour was held. The committee in charge included Mrs. N. E. Ziskind, Mrs. George Duckow and Mrs. Arthur Depies. Prizes at five hundred were given to Mrs. Mike Vollmer and Mrs. Nic Berg, at rummy, to Miss Ruth Mullerbach.

Hilbert High school basketball team will play its last home game Friday evening at Vollmer's hall with Seymour high. The first team will start at 8:15, second team at 7:15 and the grades at 6:45.

Prim Warns Against Skating on Streets

Police Chief George T. Prim today warned against roller skating on the streets. With streets drying because of mild weather, a number of youngsters have been roller skating on streets and causing a traffic hazard, he said. Parents can cooperate with police, Chief Prim said, by warning their children to remain on sidewalks.

"Now that's what I call good coffee"

How pleasant it is when you and your husband wave a goodbye to his most important customer to recall what the departing guest said so enthusiastically at the dinner table, "NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD COFFEE!"

Put Your Confidence in Hills Bros. Coffee

Millions of women have learned through pleasant experience that Hills Bros. Coffee has a matchless, uniform quality and responds to careful making with the most delicious flavor in the cup. The longer you use Hills Bros. Coffee the more you will appreciate its dependable goodness.

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEE POT: Bring coffee to boiling. Stir. Remove from fire. Add a little cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle.

STEPPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Sit again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

GLASS VACUUM-MAKERS: Put upper bowl on after water boils. The coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

Hint of the week

Certain foods change the taste of coffee. The delicate flavor tastes different immediately after eating some fresh fruits and berries. Other foods occasionally have the same effect.

Break Rules When Gains Are Obvious

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Bridge writers of the present era, as distinguished from many of the old time auction authorities, take pains to point out that conventions and rules of play are, at best, mere generalities, to be thrown overboard whenever the exigencies of the situation demand it. Unfortunately, however, the "convention fallacies" from which I have great influence on the "bright processes" of the minds of players. In today's world, a player followed the "rule of the hand" and would have lost the defender's game.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 no trump Pass 2 no trump Pass
2 no trump Pass 3 no trump Pass

West, to protect his major suit honors, chose to lead the deuce of clubs. Had East been of the "blind obedience-to-rules" school, and put up the club ace, declarer could have spread his hand for fine top tricks. But East preferred to think. The only lay of cards that would make the play of the club ace advisable, namely, K-10 x in the opening leader's hand, seemed very remote. It was much more likely that the declarer held the K or Q-10. In either of which cases there was no necessity to play the ace at the first opportunity; whereas, if declarer held both the king and queen, the ace play would immediately establish both honors. Therefore East played the jack of clubs to the first trick.

Declarer won and successfully tried to establish his ninth trick in diamonds, hearts, and spades. The adverse lay of cards was too much for him, however, and strive as he might, he could never win more than his eight top tricks.

Obviously, the play of the ace of clubs would have made the no trump game contract an absolute laydown. As a matter of fact, declarer still could have made nine tricks by stripping East of spades and hearts and throwing him in with a diamond to force a lead away from the club ace. But this would have been double-dummy play in that it required knowledge of where the club ace really lay.

WEARING A HAT

When I was first asked whether the guest of honor at a fifth wedding anniversary might wear a hat in the afternoon, my impulse was to reply, "Certainly not." But when I read on through the letter I decided that as usual "mother was right." This is the letter:

"If a wedding anniversary celebration takes place in the house of a daughter, may the bride—who is past seventy—wear a hat? This is an afternoon 'at home' and I think mother should not wear a hat. But she would like to and says it would hardly look strange to any one since she doesn't live in my house."

I might add that I am taking it for granted that the reason why mother wants to wear a hat is that she has chosen one which completes her dress and which is most especially becoming to her.

A Young Man's Visiting Cards
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you be kind enough to let me know whether or not a young man should leave his visiting card at an afternoon tea?

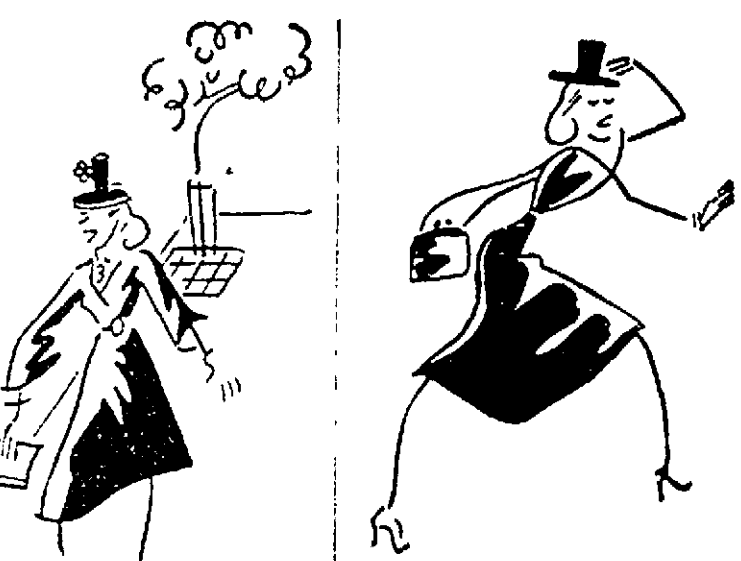

An old card bearing a certain name is today followed by very few people outside of diplomatic circles and in these instances, only because of a lingering loyalty to old convention. When was of course, to leave a card in the front hall or a reception or very large tea to show the spelling of a name and the address, so the hostess could add them to her visiting list. Today, as always, it is important only when a guest knows the hostess very slightly.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Here are a few tricks to help you get the feel of balanced walking:

1—Take a few steps backward. Notice how you automatically swing your hips down under you and walk with easy knees as you step backward. Then as you start forward watch to see that you keep that line-up.

2—Another way is to walk down a slight incline. You'll find you have to get your balance and let your legs go ahead in order not to jolt yourself from top to toe with every step.

3—And one more trick which is valuable as an exercise too. Place a fairly heavy book on top of your head and another on the back of each outstretched hand. You'll feel like Lady Macbeth in the sleep-walking scene as you move around this way, but it will give you a sense of the "plumb" line through your body. (The plumb line is a line of correct posture from head to toe.) And it will teach you how to ease your weight down through each joint, giving you the effortless motion of graceful carriage.

Good Posture Leaflet

My leaflet on exercises to do at home to gain good posture and body poise is sent free upon request, providing you address me in care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed envelope, bearing a three-cent stamp to cover mailing cost.

Janet Lane, who has studied herself into an authority on good posture, instructs you how to go about doing it well in her little book, "Sitting Pretty." To quote her: "Remember head-over-chest-over-hips, and also remember that stiff knees shove your hips out of their right position in that balance. So ease your knees and get your full-length, ideal line-up before you start."

The actress has a useful slogan—"The thigh leads the motion"—so your first motion should be a lift of the thigh and a relaxed knee swinging forward with it. In other words, your upper body rests in balance and your legs do the walking to the first trick.

Declarer won and successfully tried to establish his ninth trick in diamonds, hearts, and spades. The adverse lay of cards was too much for him, however, and strive as he might, he could never win more than his eight top tricks.

Obviously, the play of the ace of clubs would have made the no trump game contract an absolute laydown. As a matter of fact, declarer still could have made nine tricks by stripping East of spades and hearts and throwing him in with a diamond to force a lead away from the club ace. But this would have been double-dummy play in that it required knowledge of where the club ace really lay.

WEARING A HAT

When I was first asked whether the guest of honor at a fifth wedding anniversary might wear a hat in the afternoon, my impulse was to reply, "Certainly not." But when I read on through the letter I decided that as usual "mother was right." This is the letter:

"If a wedding anniversary celebration takes place in the house of a daughter, may the bride—who is past seventy—wear a hat? This is an afternoon 'at home' and I think mother should not wear a hat. ## Few Husbands Would Forgive Wife Who Has Been Unfaithful

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—A girl married a fine young man, but unfortunately just before their first child was to be born he lost his job. Having no place else to go, the girl's parents took them in and gave them a home for more than five years, as the girl's husband, through one tough break after another, couldn't keep a steady job. When their first baby was born it was a boy, and as the grandmother had never had a boy and had always desired one, she simply worshipped him and monopolized him, kept him in her room at night and devoted herself to him. Now the young husband has the opportunity to go to another city, with a good, steady job. He and his wife want to go terribly, but she positively refuses to give him up. She says she is justified in keeping him after all she has done for them, and that if they take him away from her she will never speak to them again. The young people are heartbroken, torn between love and gratitude to their mother and love for their boy. They feel this is their chance in life and yet they are afraid to take it because they don't want to give up their son. What should they do?

Dorothy Dix

A FRIEND OF BOTH PARTIES.

Answer:

I should certainly urge the young couple to take the good business proposition that is open to them because they owe that to their children and to themselves. It is bad enough for one member of the family to be sacrificed to the selfish passion of an old woman. All should not have to suffer for it.

Also, I think that the best way, and perhaps the only way, for the father and mother to get their child back without any break between them and the grandmother who has been so kind to them is for them to go on about their own lives and leave the child with her. When they are gone and the cause of conflict is removed, and the grandmother has time to quiet down, she may come to her senses and realize what a cruel thing she is doing in trying to separate a child from its parents, and that she cannot take her own happiness at the price of her daughter's.

It is not uncommon for aging women to develop an abnormal affection for a grandchild that seems to have in it not only a far greater love than they had for their own children, but something fiercely and fanatically possessive. Perhaps the touch of a baby's head once more on their breast makes them feel young again. Perhaps the child that is bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh makes them feel that only a woman shares with God the sacred joy of creation. Perhaps it is the interest, the curiosity in a child to whom everything is new that reawakens their interest in a world that had grown stale and dull to them.

But, however, it is, we know that grandmothers are often simply obsessed by such love of a child that they lose all sight of justice, of right and wrong, and of what is even good for the child they adore. Hence we have those terrible and bitter fights over the custody of a child of which so many unfortunate little creatures are the victims. It is a hard thing to say, but it is true, that very few grandmothers are fitted to raise children. It is not alone that the difference in generations and customs make it impossible for them to get the youngsters' points of view. It is mainly that they are so overfond that they cannot bear to discipline a child or to deny it anything it wants.

It takes young parents to fight with self-willed children and conquer them. It needs the give and take of brothers and sisters to teach a child its place in society, and no greater misfortune can befall a child than to miss this and be reared by elderly grandparents in a household where he is the center of the universe.

Lucky Wife If He Forgives her
Dear Dorothy Dix—I had been philandering around with other men, but finally I had got tired of it, so I told my husband all about my escapades and that I was sorry for them and would never be naughty again. He told me that he had known about it all the time, but he loved me so much that he was waiting for me to get weary of my affairs and tell him that I was sorry, so that we could finish our lives happily together. I have a wonderful husband and I do love him, but I believe I would love him more if he didn't have quite so much patience with me.

SURPRISED.
I should say you have every right to be surprised at finding out that you are married to a man with such an abnormal capacity for forgiving as your husband seems to have. He is a museum specimen whose like most of us have never seen.

But I am afraid his patience will be ill rewarded, for evidently you prefer the caveman type of husband who would drag you around by the hair of your head and beat all thoughts of wandering out of your flighty head. Maybe that is a secret contempt for the man who will kiss your feet while we are tramping all over him. At any rate, I have never known a woman who has been so patient with her husband who had any respect for him.

How does the old rhyme go: "A woman, a dog and a walnut tree, the more you beat them the better they be."

Education Better Than Early Marriage
Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a freshman in college. I like school very much, but I love a girl better. If I marry the girl, her father will give me a fine position with his firm. Is it not true that one can become educated, meeting the happenings of everyday life? Shall I marry this girl or go on to college?

R. E. M.
I am not in favor of young marriages because boys and girls in their teens are not sufficiently mature to know what kind of life partners they are going to need when they are grown. Neither at that age are capable of a deep and abiding love.

So my advice to you is to wait a while until your tastes are formed and you have tested out the strength of your affection for this girl. Don't marry her because her father can give you a good position with his firm. If you are a smart young fellow, you will be able to get yourself a job that will give you independence. Sometimes the son-in-law job puts a chap in a hot spot.

One Is Beloved

BY LOUISE PLATT HAUCK

YESTERDAY: Despite her love for Eric, Sue stands by Bob in his failure. She sacrifices their home and other luxuries, but she is more content than she has been in years.

CHAPTER 30

"I'll take you away," Eric had said eagerly, over the telephone. "It has to be—no, Eric, I can't. Not possibly."

"Pity for Trenton?" "Perhaps and not being a quitter when I'm needed." Her voice grew firmer. "It's one thing to leave a ship when the weather's fair; it's another to desert it in a storm. I should think you'd be the first to see that, Eric."

"I see just one thing: that either you love me or you don't. If you do, nothing else should count. If you don't, I must know it now."

And then, more tenderly: "My darling, you must come!"

Her throat closed with anguish. That beloved voice had such power over her. Bitter resentment filled her that this calamity of Bob's should have befallen him just now. She had a cowardly wish that she had been safely in New York, that Bob should have read her letter, before the blow fell.

Perhaps she was being womanish about Bob's need for her; manlyish sentimentality. It might even be that Bob himself would feel freer if he had only himself to look out for. She dalled for a wildly hopeful minute with that thought, then put it from her. Bob's sick eyes looked to her for comfort a dozen times a day. Her hand on his arm could make him straighten the broad shoulders which sagged under their unaccustomed load of anxiety.

Bob was a child of the sun. Gay and charming when all went well, his bewilderment in adversity took the form of irascibility. Sue had all she could do to keep him from quarreling with his friends, his business advisers.

Night after night she went to bed bruised in spirit and tired to exhaustion in body. It seemed to her she had a battle on with half the world! With Eric, first of all. He called, he wired, he wrote. In the end he defeated his own cause by arousing her anger. She loved him, nonetheless but she resented his assumption that his need for her overruled any moral obligation she might feel toward Bob. She told him so in words so clearcut and decisive that he could not fail to understand. The silence which had enveloped him ever since then sometimes terrified her.

She had Bob to fight of course, in a score of ways. Willing, even eager to surrender everything of his own to his creditors, he was stubbornly determined to keep every possible luxury for her.

"Either your debts are my debts, and your honor is my honor, Bob, or—they are not, it is not! You can't have it both ways!"

That eventually silenced him. Then arose the question of his new job, a home for both of them. Allen had offered eagerly to give her room back to his sister. Bob thought it would be the best plan. Sue folded her lips firmly and set forth to hunt a small house or apartment. When she found the quaint little brick building in which they now lived, Bob had been frantic with rage and humiliation. Even Allen said mildly: "It sort of advertises to the world the poor fellow's failure, Sis!"

"It does no such thing! It simply tells people—if they happen to be interested—that we are cutting our garments according to our cloth. And I'm the one who has to live here, Allen. If I prefer it to a stuffy apartment, I suppose it's my privilege!"

He laughed and put a brotherly arm about her.

"Don't fly off the handle, little Sue! You may live over a grocery store, for all I care—if it pleases you!"

The Stock
The final and longest struggle had been, oddly enough, about the

ous writers, name a few Italian painters, identify a few operatic numbers, recognize the names of Aristotle and Socrates—but find ourselves so poorly equipped to live successfully that we must beg cigarette money from our parents!"

President Robert M. Hutchins, of the University of Chicago, has caustically indicted our modern universities and colleges, lashing at "the triviality, futility and confusion of most programs now masquerading as higher education."

"The colleges and universities must confess," he goes on to state, "that their offerings are such as to drive their students to seek mental stimulation in gladiatorial contests, college life and even the consumption of live fish."

The real test of an educated man is whether or not he can adjust himself successfully to the environment in which he finds himself.

This involves winning and holding a job, even in depression; winning and holding a wife; rearing a family of children wisely; adjusting amiably with his neighbors; and doing his bit in the civic and religious life of the community so that the world is better for his having lived in it.

Beware Of Intellectual Snobs
I have encountered plenty of intellectual snobs who are college professors. They affect a Harvard accent and patronizingly talk about the "provincialism of the Middle West" or the "naivete of the West-erners, you know, and the sweet simplicity of the South."

Our cast coats is thick with such literary ditties and who asininely worship Europe and are simply weather vane for every breath of European propaganda that blows westward. I advised Betty against marrying this man, at least till she learns to be really cultured. It wouldn't be fair to the man.

PINAFORE DAYS

Favorite of your own "little red schoolhouse" days, that demure old-fashioned style, the pinafore, makes this season's news! See how charmingly Anne Adams has designed Pattern 4392! The dainty pinafore is in just a few pattern parts, with a full gathered skirt and a perky back bow. The dress itself has puffy sleeves and side bodice sections that may be frill-edged. Leave the neckline round, or sew on a small collar, perhaps in contrast. Don't miss the sweet bonnet with its wide, stitched sunshade and saucy bow! The apron and bonnet would be adorable in snowy white over a gayly printed frock.

Pattern 4392 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, pinafore and bonnet, takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric; dress, 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

VITAMIN D
When calves can be out in the sunshine a great deal of the time they are guarded from rickets, or bone trouble of the sort. If they do not have enough sunshine, or Vitamin D food, they will not grow into strong, healthy cows.

Those points were brought out by tests of 24 Holstein calves which were obtained for tests at the age of three weeks. They were divided into six "lots" of four calves each, and special treatment was given to each lot.

This calf had little sunshine and was fed no Vitamin D for seven months. All the calves were fed whole milk at first, later skim milk. At the end of 10 weeks they received insect middlings calcium flour and salt. Some calves were fed nothing else, but two lots were given cod liver oil, and two lots were fed tomatoes.

Most of the calves were kept in box stalls, away from sunlight for a period of nine months. Those which had no sunshine and no cod liver oil gained an average of only 128 pounds. Two groups of calves were allowed to run in the sunlight and they gained an average of 455 pounds. Half of the eight "sunlight calves" were fed tomatoes as an extra and they gained 19 pounds apiece more than those without tomatoes. On the other hand, tomatoes did not help the growth of the calves which were kept out of the sunlight.

The calves which gained the most of all were those given cod liver oil, which contains Vitamin D. They had been kept out of the sunshine, but they made a gain of 543 pounds apiece! That test would seem to prove that cod liver oil can take the place of sunshine for calves. This is important for farmers who raise cattle in regions where winter days are short and where calves may not have enough sunshine.

The calves which had neither sunshine or cod liver oil suffered stiffness of joints and could hardly walk. One was highly bow-legged at the end of the test. These troubles were plainly due to their not having had the Vitamin D which either the oil or the sunshine could have given them.

Some farmers are now using cod liver oil in their feeds for livestock also for poultry. Many others are feeding calves yeast powder which has been exposed to ultra-violet rays. The dry powder is mixed with other foods and gives the animals a fine supply of the Vitamin D which they need for good growth of bones.

Former Convicts Need Assistance In Finding Work

Men Released From Prison Must Fight Public Opinion. Club Told

Men released from prison are faced with the obstacle of public opinion and need help and understanding in reestablishing themselves in civilian life. Nicholas Kimler, a representative of the Wisconsin Society for the Friendless, told members of the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday at the Conway hotel.

The society which Kimler represents is engaged in helping men parolee or ex-convicts find work and security. It was established in 1901.

Kimler said that 97 out of 100 men sent to prison ultimately are released and that the average age at which they are set free is 35. This presents a most difficult and vital social problem, Kimler pointed out. If the former prisoner is unable to make a decent living because of a past record, he may return to criminal habits.

The Wisconsin Society for the Friendless works with prison authorities and with the families of prisoners to set up case histories of men, used in aiding them find work and employment after their release.

"It is impossible for some of them to get their old jobs back," Kimler said, "and therefore we must find new places for them. You can't just throw them away like an old shoe. They need friends and they need assistance."

Kimler said that the I. Q. of prisoners is "about the same as the army," but that few of them have ever had the advantage of a Christian education.

"Most men who enter our state prison never knew a trade and couldn't find profitable ways of spending their leisure time. They never had any hobbies."

Kimler said that the prison at Waupun provides them with a well-rounded education, recreation, and vocational program, but that it can't make "the greatest correction, that of public opinion."

Wallace Beery, Dolores Del Rio and John Howard appear together for the first time in "The Man from Dakota," a story of the Civil War. Beery is seen as Sergeant Berlow, and Howard as his young idealistic lieutenant. Miss Del Rio returns to the screen after a year's absence spent in traveling.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood — In "Northwest Passage," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has produced a picture which violates all the rules. Love interest is nil.

The plot is so straightforward and simple — so entirely lacking in dramatic elements — that it can be fully stated in one short sentence. From start to finish, interest is focused on a single character.

But what a character that one is — and what an actor! Fidler plays the role!

As Major Rogers, Spencer Tracy hits a new high. Without one actor's gesture and without one "Give-me-liberty-or-give-me-death" speech, he radiates strength. He makes you know, beyond question of doubt, that Major Rogers is undefeated and indestructible. He hypnotizes you into seeing a six-foot man as a towering giant, surrounded by pigmies clinging to him for support. It's more than acting — by some subtle alchemy Spencer Tracy has resurrected Major Rogers from the grave and sent him out again to triumph over every hardship Nature can devise.

I've been harping for months on a pet belief — that the story is all important and the actors secondary. For this once, I'm willing to cry "uncle" and take it all back. I don't think there's another actor in Hollywood who could have made that role convincing. With any other actor — even Gable at his he-manish best — I think the picture would have been a disappointment. In this case, it succeeds on the ability of its star.

MUTTERINGS: Seems that Grace Moore, who "would have volunteered for ambulance duty in France" "if I were not too busy" — is still too busy. Wondering muse: Is it love — or box-office that's reuniting John and his Elaine? Ode to mayhem: "But you're just a child, Deanna..." Wonder if that diminutive columnist who cracked so nastily at "Big Boy" Williams the other day, realizes just how big Big is? Wouldn't it be a dirty trick for Hedy Lamarr to change the color of her hair and double-cross her imitators. Imaginable hilarity!

Scout Leaders Will Discuss
'Troop Programming' at Meeting

About 30 commissioners of the valley council of boy scouts will attend a conference at Gardner Dam, council camp, Saturday and Sunday, with "troop programming" as the chief topic.

Sessions will be held Saturday night and Sunday, Herb Heilig, chairman of the council leadership training committee, presiding. Clarence H. Engberg, council executive, said today that commissioners will receive assignments to districts and that training team organization and the June camporee will be other discussion topics. The date and place for the camporee have not been settled.

Manawa Boy Scouts Observe Anniversary With Special Program

Manawa — Celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of Boy Scouts was observed by Manawa troop No. 38 at a parents' night program held in the grade school auditorium Monday evening. Members of the local troop were presented awards and merit badges by S. W. Johnson, Waupaca, district chairman of scout advancement work, who presided at the rituals.

Speakers on the program included H. L. Crane, representing the Manawa Lions club; Paul E. Roman, who spoke on scouting from a dad's viewpoint; L. M. Lamkins; Erwin Esche; H. P. Barrington; Mrs. John Seffern, speaking from a mother's viewpoint; Roy Holly, Waupaca, scout commissioner of the Twin Lakes council; Harry Hertz, Oshkosh, scout executive of the council; Dr. A. M. Christopherson, Waupaca, president of the Twin Lakes council, and Martin Krueger, scoutmaster. Another feature of the evening was the presentation of the President's award to the local troop by Mr. Holly.

Other numbers included roll call; an evening: Watching Zasu Pitts roll dice with those fluttery hands.

Since her flight to stardom, Deanna Durbin has been flooded with letters from fans who want to give her blue-blooded dogs all breeds, sizes and descriptions. Yesterday she received the 1000th offer — from a Canadian kennel owner who begged her to accept a champion Russian wolfhound. She turned down that gift for the same reason that's prompted her to refuse all the others. She's too loyal to her own faithful pooch, "Tippy" — a mongrel purchased some years ago for two dollars from the local pound!

Wisconsin Health

BY DR. CORNELIUS A. HARPER
State Health Officer

During the past quarter century supervision of public water supplies has become so thorough and effective that urban populations have ceased to worry about the quality of the water they consume. Outbreaks of waterborne diseases traceable to pollution of municipal water sources are rare.

This happy state has not been attained insofar as private water supplies are concerned. Statistics show that approximately 50 per cent of the private water supplies are either permanently or periodically unsafe. It is known too that the unsafe condition of approximately one-half of the 350,000 existing wells in Wisconsin is due to inadequate construction thereof and to improper installation of pumping equipment.

Each year about 5,000 additional wells are constructed. Thus the number of openings between the surface and the groundwater body is rapidly increasing. Every inadequately constructed well is a channel through which pollutional matter from surface and subsurface sources is conveyed directly into the groundwater body, gradually destroying its fitness for supplying water for human consumption. In many areas it has become necessary to construct wells to increasingly greater depths in search of good water.

It is the aim and purpose of Wisconsin's pure drinking water law and the rules and regulations adopted pursuant thereto to provide for construction of new wells, reconstruction of existing wells and installation of pumping equipment which will insure conservation of its existing safe groundwater supplies.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

HERE IS GOOD NEWS! — Amazing Experiences of Relief with RUX Reported by Prominent Appleton People.

Crowds Flock to Great Medicine Sale at Local Drug Store.

Satisfied users are the best advertisements any medicine can have, and sales of RUX Compound are growing by leaps and bounds as Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Neuritic sufferers continue to tell of their remarkable relief with RUX.

An Amazing Experience
Only one of a flood of letters recently received is this statement of happy relief by Mr. Peter Yohann, well-known church member and resident of Fond du Lac, Wis.

"I am 85 years old and have lived in Fond du Lac 42 years. I am writing this letter to let other Rheumatic sufferers know how I have been helped by the use of RUX COMPOUND. I have been having attacks of Rheumatic Pains in my shoulder and arms and it felt like I had fever wherever the pain was. About midnight I would suffer so badly that it was impossible to get any more sleep. I read about RUX and started using it. I certainly can say it brings real relief for my Rheumatic Pains and I can get a good night's rest because of this relief."

Mr. Peter Yohann

If you are a Rheumatic Sufferer — if your body is racked with sharp, stabbing muscular pain attacks that make life a torment — if you roll and toss through sleepless nights, feel unfit for work or pleasure because of cruel Rheumatic, Neuralgic or Neuritic pains, you should go to the Ford Hopkins Drug Store today and ask them about this remarkable medicine, RUX, $1, $1.50 and $6 at all good drug stores.
